

EDITORIALS

Still Too Many

The poet said something to the effect that in the Spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love, but he might just as well have added something about the rash of charity campaigns which bloom in the spring. The Comox District Free Press last week editorially commented upon the fact that in Duncan, as elsewhere, there are too many charity campaigns. That newspaper said:

"The annual 'Conquer Cancer Campaign' begins in this district on Monday, April 16, and we have been asked to lend our editorial support to the drive for funds.

"We do so—but under protest, for we know that people in this district are heartily fed up with the constant demands on their limited financial resources for this charity and that.

"It is impossible, of course, to speak ill of the objectives of the Cancer Campaign. Taken by itself, the campaign for funds to combat cancer is worthy of the utmost financial support we can give.

"So is the annual campaign for funds of the Red Cross. "So is the annual campaign for funds to help the blind. "So is the annual campaign for funds to help victims of tuberculosis.

"So is the annual campaign for funds to fight polio. "So is the annual campaign for funds for crippled children. "So is the annual campaign for funds for the blind.

"Individually each of these is deserving of support, but collectively, they become a pain in the neck for all of us; by the fact that there are so many demands on our charity, each one of these worthy causes loses something of its appeal to our human sensibilities. It is a pity there are so many of them."

In Kelowna, as in Duncan, we are in the midst of our annual spate of "national" charity canvasses. In March we had the Red Cross which is still dragging wearily on although over its quota; April was Cancer month and that campaign has just about reached its quota; in May we are faced with arthritis.

In Kelowna, fortunately, we have advanced at least one step towards the sensible solution to this continuous charity appeal problem, thanks to the formation of the Community Chest. The Chest operation has saved us from at least half-a-dozen other campaigns this year and there is no reason why it could not eliminate several others.

This newspaper does not agree with the Comox District Free Press that the people object to charity giving because of limited financial resources. Rather, this newspaper feels, the public resents the constant appeals, the continued pleas to shell out. Most people, this newspaper believes, would gladly increase their charity giving if they knew they could give it in one lump sum and be completely through with it for a year.

Actually, in Kelowna, the national campaigns have been the only ones to hold out from the single campaign Community Chest organization. The local committees of these organizations have been pressurized from national headquarters to hold out. The fact that they would receive the amount of their quota with little effort would seem to have little bearing on the matter. The national organizations are afraid they might lose some prestige, some publicity; their primary concern is to maintain their "place in the sun".

As the Free Press states, Red Cross, Cancer, Arthritis, Crippled Children and the host of others are all worthy of our support and generally do laudable work. But, surely, it is now time that these national campaigns—as every one of them does in some other cities—fall in line and support the single-canvass Community Chest. If donors and workers knew that they would be called upon but once a year, the charity appeal problem here would be well solved.

Watch Your Charity Giving

If this newspaper editorially supported every worthy cause which seeks its assistance, it would be boosting some charity every one of its issues. Some years ago a rough policy was adopted that The Courier would support only those charities which functioned under a local committee. Even so, it seems that hardly a week goes by without some publicity for some charity finding its way into our columns. But it was probably this rough rule which prevented us from urging local people to support one cause which looked on the surface to be a very worthy one, the United Emergency Fund for Britain.

The Financial Post of Toronto recently carried an expose of the workings of this charity and its articles have created something of a furor in charity circles. The Post showed that out of $593,000 collected by the U.E.F.B. from the public and an additional $30,000 given by the Dominion Government, some $185,000 went for salaries, some $188,000 for advertising and publicity and other large administrative expenses. Only some $880 went to buy food for Britain which the public understood to be the main purpose of the fund.

The Financial Post's report is so meticulously documented that there can be no doubt of the general truth of the charges raised. All in all, it adds up to a shocking story of exploitation: exploitation of the most cynical and cold-blooded kind. In 1948 there was a wave of sympathy throughout Canada for the hardships which economic crisis had wrought on the British people. That sympathy, it appears, was channelled by the organizers of the U.E.F.B. into a slick promotion scheme.

Commenting on the facts which its reporter had unearthed, the Financial Post remarked: "Revelations of this kind are full of instruction for prominent and well-meaning people who go on charity boards of directors, committees, etc. First, they should find out very clearly the origins, personnel and purposes of the charity wanting them. Secondly, if they accept, they should see to it that they really know how the business affairs are being conducted.

"As matters now stand you or anybody else can make a public appeal for any purpose whatsoever and do with the receipts whatever you wish. There are some good things but we think many bad things about a mandatory licensing scheme. But there is a great deal of merit in the system growing in the United States of privately operated charity-information offices manned by persons experienced in such work and with a rigid

Truman Blamed for Not Formulating Definite Policy in Korean Conflict

Probably half the world today heard General MacArthur make his address to the United States Congress, an address which shed little new light upon the controversy which has raged south of the 49th parallel since President Truman dismissed the Pacific commander from his military post.

MacArthur, speaking slowly and at some times emotionally, reiterated his already well-publicized views on the Asiatic situation. He avoided all mention of President Truman, but, once, by inference, did blame the President for lack of decision and failure to formulate a definite policy in regard to the Korean situation.

The original decision to take military action in Korea had been sound and had been justified, but the entry into the war of Red China, he said, had created a new situation which demanded new military and diplomatic decisions. "These decisions," he commented, "have never been forthcoming."

A complete revision of the U.N. strategic planning has been needed, he believed. He advocated a greater economic blockade of Red China; a more stringent naval blockade of the Chinese coast; air reconnaissance over China; the utilization of the Chinese Nationalist army on Formosa and help for that army in its invasion of the Chinese mainland.

Military Views
Should Formosa be allowed to fall into the hands of the Communists, the whole western United States defence perimeter would be driven back to the coast of California. He had never yet encountered a military man who disagreed with this viewpoint, he said. These were his considered military views, and military authorities agreed with them, even including the U.S. Joint chief of staff. This remark brought prolonged applause. He had been criticized for these views of his, he said, but he had asked for reinforcements and had been told they were not available. "If the hands of the military commander in Korea are tied, victory is impossible. The whole purpose of war is to obtain victory, but in definite policy be formulated, but Korea under the present restrictions the best we can hope for is a complete stalemate, a war of attrition, a waste of manpower and materials."

Political Decisions
He had asked that the necessary political decisions be made, that a

Plans Made for Taking B.C. Evacuees in Event of War

CONCRETE plans for the formation of a civil defence committee which would assist in the distribution of evacuees to the Okanagan Valley in the event of an attack on the west coast, were laid here Tuesday afternoon.

Major-General C. R. Stein, provincial co-ordinator, presided over the conference attended by representatives from every city and town in the Okanagan. In addition to a seven-man planning committee, a central council consisting of one representative from every organized area as well as municipal-appointed co-ordinators, was also appointed.

The Okanagan Valley must be prepared to accept evacuees within 48 hours of an attack, Major-General Stein declared. Certain districts have been designated as target areas, and the Okanagan is considered the most important reception area.

The provincial co-ordinator admitted that certain points in civil defence have to be clarified by federal and provincial governments, but he stressed the necessity of interior points being prepared in the event of a sudden attack.

Following a full discussion as to what steps should be taken by interior points, a seven-man planning committee was appointed. Major-General Stein, of Summerland, was chosen chairman, while other district representatives are: Salmon Arm—Enderby, to be appointed; Vernon—Armstrong area, Frank Barber, co-ordinator; Vernon municipality, Guyana Kelowna, to be appointed; Kelowna municipality, Summerland, Alderman Wilson Hunt, Penticton; Dr. H. K. Kennedy, Vernon, medical health officer; Dr. Helen Vernon, Kelowna, alternate; F. G. Hassard, Vernon, health and welfare.

Control Council
The control council, which was also set up, will be responsible to the planning committee. This council consists of Revelstoke, Ald. W. Simfild; Salmon Arm City, Ald. Tom Middleton and co-ordinator Col. E. Woods; Salmon Arm municipality, C. Mayne; Enderby, to be appointed; Armstrong, A. E. Harvey; Spallumcheen, to be appointed; Vernon, Ald. E. Tryall and co-ordinator Col. Frank Barber; Kelowna, to be appointed; Kelowna, co-ordinator Jack Horn, council representative to be appointed; (Turn to Page 6, Story 3)

Herb Capozzi In Italy

Herb's Stomach Turns After Looking At Ill-Famous Dachau Gas Chambers And Furnaces Which Killed Thousands

(EDITOR'S NOTE—Following is another in a series of articles written by Harold (Herb) Capozzi for The Kelowna Courier. Capozzi is at present studying at the University of Perugia, north of Rome, after being awarded a Rotary Foundation Scholarship.)

I am writing this from Munich, Germany. I imagine that for most of you the name of Munich immediately brings back memories of those frightful days in 1939 when the eyes of the whole world were turned on Munich. When Prime Minister Chamberlain, smiling at first with his umbrella among the bemuddled leaders of the German Reich, tried to save the world from war.

Munich must have been a wonderful city then, with its wonderful buildings! But it's now twelve years after and the city of Munich is old and has disappeared under the shells and bombs of the war. The streets are still as wide as ever but instead of the neat and tidy houses, there are just piles of rubble and torn ruins. In place of the Munich shops are the garishly new-after-war products of the recovery program looking quite out of place among the remains of their old companions. The city is still beautiful with many of the famous old churches and buildings still intact but its beauty is heavily marred by the scars of war.

Marks of War
Its people to bear the marks of war. The cripples and invalids, the shabbiness of the clothes and the large ratio of women to men are all strongly in evidence.

But if the city and the people bear the marks of war, the countryside doesn't. As you move along the magnificent super-highways that were built to carry the supremacy to victory, the countryside along the road is a picture as calm and peaceful as a scene from a picture book.

The green fields are calm and serene and the pleasant, clean villages puff smoke from their chimneys like a placid old man with a pipe. Sturdy looking peasant women are working in the fields with that conscientious and diligent manner that characterizes the German people.

Except for the American army road signs, the ever-present army vehicles and the newly replaced bridges, the war could be just a

Herb Capozzi's Letter Censored

Strict censorship regulations are apparently being enforced in Germany.

Herb Capozzi, who has been writing a series of articles for The Kelowna Courier, while studying at the University of Perugia, north of Rome, is now touring Germany on a brief holiday.

This week's article, written from Munich, was heavily censored. The censor's scissors went into action when the U.B.C. scholar referred to a united Germany, and once again when he touched on the German people placing their freedom and personal liberty in the hands of a few.

This is the first time that Herb's letters have passed under the eyes of a censor.

CITY MAY HAVE REPRESENTATION AT CONFERENCE

His Worship the Mayor will probably represent the City of Kelowna at the annual meeting of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities in London, Ontario, the middle of June. In a brief discussion Monday night, it was indicated that His Worship, who holds a post on the executive, would probably attend.

City Controller C. Brannan will attend the Municipal Officers Association annual meeting which is being held at the Empress Hotel in Victoria June 6-8.

Low Mercury Predicted Tonight

One of the warmest and driest early April spells for many years was cut short yesterday by a large mass of polar air, abetted by fresh northerly winds.

Stoking of furnaces and home heaters, idle for some three weeks, played a part in the drop in the mercury, which dropped to a chilly 10 above early this morning.

Some abatement in the wind is forecast, possibly bringing about a little lower minimum tonight. The weatherman calls for clear skies, light to increasing winds—moderate.

Yesterday's minimum of 10 above is not a record but it is close to it for the month of April. Lowest April reading on record came in 1920, according to official weather observer, R. P. Walrod.

There have been a few 17's and 18's in April too, since records first were kept in 1899, said Mr. Walrod.

A slight trace of hail and dark threatening clouds early yesterday morning heralded the approach of the polar blast and the end of an almost unprecedented dry, mild spell. Customary "April showers" just haven't applied here as yet.

Maximum, minimum for the past three days follow:

April 16 67 38
April 17 66 34
April 18 37 19

ROTARY CLUB WILL SPONSOR U.B.C. PLAYERS

The Kelowna Rotary Club has made final arrangements to bring a great dramatic treat to Kelowna. The U.B.C. Players Club will present "The Male Animal," a hit play throughout Canada and the United States, on Thursday, May 10, in the Empress Theatre. This was announced by chairman Jim Campbell.

Exchange tickets are now on sale and have been for several days. Full information is available at Brown's pharmacy.

Rotary members are going all out to fill the 640 seat house. Proceeds will go to Rotary Club work in the community.

Temperature Drops To 19 in Kelowna; Some Fruit Damage

No Estimate Available On Fruit Loss

WEATHER elements struck another blow at Okanagan fruit growers last night when the mercury tumbled to an official low of 19 above in Kelowna last night. In some areas temperature dropped as low as ten above.

At press time, Robert Murray, district horticulturist, did not have complete reports to make an accurate estimate of the damage in the whole valley. In the Kelowna district, however, Mr. Murray admitted that there was "serious damage" to the cherry crop, "some injury" to pears, and in some sections "quite serious" damage to apples. Despite the injury to pears, he thought a fair crop would be harvested.

But the worst is still to come tonight, according to Mr. Murray. Forecast is for freezing temperatures, with no wind. If there is no wind, the mercury will probably slide still further. He warned fruit growers to get snugge pots out in orchards, although he pointed out that heat is needed more than anything to protect the trees from frost.

The Kelowna district is mainly an apple-growing area, so growers will not be as badly off as those in the soft fruit districts. Complete reports from Westbank-Peachland areas had not been received at press time.

Fruit trees are just about ready to break out in blossom, and last night's frost will cause damage to the buds.

In Kelowna area, no peaches or apricots were expected this year in commercial quantities due to the mild spell of weather the latter part of February and early March. Buds were nipped when the weather tightened up.

Early this afternoon Mr. Murray had not received enough reports from the north and southern areas of the valley to form an accurate picture. Preliminary inspection in the Oliver-Osoyoos areas indicated the damage would not be severe.

However, at 11 o'clock this morning, buds on some apple trees in the Vernon area were still frozen, and field inspectors had not turned in complete survey reports.

Last night's temperature was not the lowest on record. In April, 1920, the thermometer sank to 15 above, and a similar situation in regard to frozen buds was faced that year.

Last night was as cold as the average winter night.

Mr. Lander stated no word has been received from A. K. Loyd, Tree Fruits' president, who is now in England endeavoring to arrange a better apple deal for B.C. growers.

APPLE MARKET IMPROVEMENT ANTICIPATED

Belief that the apple market in the U.S. and Western Canada will pick up within the next few weeks, was expressed by A. C. Lander, assistant general manager, B.C. Tree Fruits this morning.

Mr. Lander pointed out the U.S. market has been weak for several weeks, and providing weak-conditioned fruit is not unloaded, sales should pick up.

Sales in Western Canada compare favorably with those at the same time last year, while some improvement has been noted in Eastern Canada.

Mr. Lander stated no word has been received from A. K. Loyd, Tree Fruits' president, who is now in England endeavoring to arrange a better apple deal for B.C. growers.

Continue Road Patching When Frost Disappears

Alderman Keller told City Council on Monday night that experiments carried on during the past ten days had indicated that it was a waste of time and money to attempt to patch the larger breaks in the streets at this time. The frost is still coming out of the ground in these places, he said, and the patching material simply would not stick.

The smaller holes were a different problem and work on these is going forward steadily. The rock crusher for rebuilding some streets will be started this week.

Just as soon as the ground is in fit condition, work will be started on the larger breaks. The first two to be undertaken are those on Abbott and those on Pendol about which there have been many complaints. "People seem to think we are not aware of them, or, if we are, that we are just not doing anything about them," he said. "Such is not the case. We are fully aware of them, but the fact is that conditions are still such as to make any work at this time a needless waste of time and money. As soon as all the frost is out of these holes, they will be fixed."

Two organizations have requested use of the city park on Labor Day, September 3. The Lions Club and the Okanagan Light Horse Association have jointly asked for the use of the oval for the gymnkhana and Okanagan Valley championships.

The "Canadian Legion has asked for use of the oval on that day for the Legion's Okanagan zone picnic.

The Lions' pointed out in a letter of application that the horse show was so popular here last year, thanks to the use of the oval, that it had been decided to stage the Okanagan Valley championships here each year, rather than to rotate the event among the three principal cities.

Alderman Parkinson reported that there was a possibility of the two bodies getting together and now be made through the Community Chest fund.

C.N.I.B. WANTS CIVIC GRANT

A request for a grant by the Canadian National Institute of the Blind was received by City Council Monday night. A reply will be made that any such grant would now be made through the Community Chest fund.

Alberta Social Credit Group Will Adopt "Hands Off" Policy In B.C. Unless Invited To Tour Province

ALBERTA Social Credit League does not intend to enter the B.C. political field, but speakers would be willing to campaign on behalf of candidates in the next provincial election if invited to do so by the B.C. Social Credit organization.

Fred Colborne, M.L.A. (Calgary) made this point clear to a Courier reporter after he addressed a Social Credit rally here Monday night. Mr. Colborne was accompanied by Orvis A. Kennedy, national Social Credit organizer.

Mr. Colborne emphatically denied that the current speaking tour in the interior had any significance with a possible B.C. election following severe criticism of the B.C. Hospital Insurance Scheme.

"The purpose of the tour is to organize on a national basis so that the Social Credit party will be in a strong position to run candidates in the next federal election, he said.

While admitting that he heard some overtures had been made to W. A. C. Bennett, M.L.A. (South Okanagan) after he and Mrs. Tilly Holston bolted coalition ranks, Mr. Colborne stated the Social Credit organization is not interested in candidates who do not sincerely believe in Social Credit principles. "Must Be Invited"

The Alberta Social Credit League will not interfere with the B.C. Social Credit organization. "If B.C. Social Crediters want to organize on a firm footing and run candidates in the next provincial election, that is their privilege. If they are sincere in purpose and request us to campaign on their behalf, we will do so. But we must be invited first, as we do not intend to enter into any quarrel with another province" he added.

Monday night's meeting was attended by 150 people. Both Mr. Colborne and Mr. Kennedy were not interested in

Tennis Club Reviews Banner Year; Ernie Winter President Third Term

A HIGHLY successful year was reviewed last week at the annual meeting of the Kelowna Lawn Tennis Club that re-elected Ernie Winter to the chair. Progress was the keynote as shown in the wide appeal of the tournaments, the added attractiveness of the club grounds, the success of the junior players—and above all, a favorable cash balance, though small it was.

The new season marks the third for Ernie Winter at the helm. He also has served several other years on the executive.

Other officers are: Bob Robinson, vice-president; Miss Gwen Armstrong, treasurer; Hugh Earle, secretary. On the committee are: Miss Doris Termuende, Mrs. V. Ahrens, Mrs. Ken Parker, Miss Mary Stubbs, Art Smith, Dick Steele, Bruce Catchpole and Ches Larson.

Operating profit for the year amounted to $40 before depreciation deductions. Cash balance, according to the financial statement read by auditor Gordon Bennett was $568.

Outstanding Meet

One of the main highlights of the year was the staging of the B.C. Interior tournament again. Under the guidance of H. G. M. Gardner, the meet was described as outstanding success.

Though the event made no money for KLTC, still the publicity gained and the goodwill spread was deemed well worthwhile.

Kelowna was well represented at all valley tournaments. Inter-club matches were held as well as the regular club tournament.

Entertainment during the year featured tennis films, including one on the Davis Cup play in Australia, beach parties and a Halloween dance.

A donation of $50 was made to the B.C. Lawn Tennis Association for the player development fund.

President Winter, in his annual report, recommended building of an asphalt court to ensure all-weather play, particularly when needed during tournaments and on busy Sundays.

Junior Enthusiasts
Dealing at some length with the necessity of coaching the juniors, Winter said that upwards of 40 juniors were enthusiastic playing members during 1950 and many more were planning to join this year.

He believed the fostering of this future senior membership could not be overestimated. With coaching from himself, and the assistance of others, he reported the juniors did an excellent job in the last two years, showing well in all valley tournaments and at the Coast.

He urged more seniors to give more time to coaching the juniors, believing that with the proper coaching some Canadian championship material could be developed here.

Winter paid tribute to the work done by George Pedlar, B.C. LTA coach, who came here from Vancouver to instruct a week last year. Mr. Pedlar is expected to return again this year.

Membership fees were unchanged. They are: $15 for singles, $22.50 for couples and $4 for juniors, with no entrance fee. New members are welcome. Prospects should get in touch with Ernie Winter (125), Hugh Earle (852-Y) or Bob Robinson (201-X).

Red Sox Sit Out Sunday Ball Raisers

"Play Ball!" will echo in the stands Sunday in Penticton and Oliver as the Okanagan-Mainline Baseball League, the newest of scores of circuits to operate in the Okanagan over a score of years, unveils the 1951 season.

Kelowna Elks Red Sox, a member of the five-team loop, will be idle Sunday, seeing their first league action the following week-end. Kamloops Elks at Penticton and Vernon at Oliver are the scheduled opponents this coming Sabbath. The following Sunday Oliver will lift the local curtain while Penticton Canucks will show their wares at Vernon.

The local squad is far from definite as yet, what with only a few workouts, and on a makeshift diamond at the City Park at that. Coach Larry Schlosser, a ball player of considerable note in these parts, has watched some two dozen or more hopefuls perform, with more turning out at each succeeding practice.

Practices are slated for 5:45 on Wednesdays and Fridays and 11 a.m. Sunday. Prospects are asked to note the practice times and turn out as all berths are "wide open."

PICK COMMITTEES TO HELP SUMMER SPORTS GROUPS

Summer sports committees to try to help various activities in the city were selected by Kelowna Athletic Round Table this week.

Function of each committee will be to seek out where KART can help that particular sport. Any sports group is invited to approach the committees with a view of obtaining whatever assistance KART can give.

On the various committees are: Cricket—John Lomax; Swimming—Bill Baker and Bill Treadgold; Baseball—Jack O'Reilly and Augie Clancione; Softball—Carl Pohlman and Augie Clancione.

Track—Jim Logie, John Gowans and Jim Pantou; Wrestling—Miss Afee dePuyffer, Lloyd Taggart and John Cameron; Ladies' recreation—Miss Bert Fournier, Miss Mabel Hall; War canoeing—Joe Benzer, Miss Velva Maxson and George Yochim; Rowing—Dick Stewart.

MURRAY ENTERS TEAM IN JUNIOR BASEBALL LOOP

An enthusiastic band of junior baseballers have held two workouts already under self-appointed coach, Dick Stewart.

The meeting he called of young ballmen last Sunday turned out to be even better than Murray expected. "We'll have a good junior club," said Dick yesterday. "I was amazed at the class they show."

Murray said formal application to join the South Okanagan Junior Baseball League has been made and he has every reason to believe it will be accepted, making for a six or seven-team league. Schedule should be drafted shortly.

THREE BOXERS TRY LUCK IN GOLDEN GLOVES

Three local boxers and their coach, Augie Clancione, left Kelowna for Vancouver yesterday to try their fortunes in the 1951 Golden Gloves.

For middleweight George Fenton of Westbank it will be his third Golden Gloves appearance. With featherweight Stan Taneda, also of Westbank, it will be his second.

To George Wilderman, of Kelowna, also a featherweight (126 pounds) it will be a brand new experience. Also making the trip as driver was Vince Clancione.

Bouts begin Friday with the first expected to be staged Saturday night. Most of the initial bouts' expenses were raised in the fight card of last week in the Legion Auditorium.

Another Overtime Epic As Leafs Nip Montreal To Take Lead in Series

Captain Ted Kennedy took a personal hand Tuesday night in steering his Toronto Maple Leafs to a one-time, extra-inning struggle with the Montreal Canadiens by scoring an overtime goal to give the Leafs a 2-1 victory over the Habitués at Montreal.

Fourth game in the best-of-seven floor hockey series in the Stanley Cup comes off in Montreal tonight. All three games to date have been five-goal thrillers. Fifth game is in Toronto to Saturday.

DIVIDED INTO DISTRICTS
For the purposes of administering the province's new regulations, the province is divided into five districts—Vancouver Island, Lower Mainland, Okanagan, Kootenay and Northern.

TRUNDLERS CONFIDENT AS THEY LEAVE FOR VANCOUVER CLASSIC

Brimming confidence all over, six Kelowna fivepinners will be heading towards Vancouver tonight to compete in the $10,000 Bowl-a-Car. Top prizes are three new cars.

Travelling in one car, driven by one of the sextet—Ted Rabone—they expect to see action tomorrow and Saturday, with at least one of the teams (they bowl in a team of three at a time) in the finals Sunday afternoon.

In the party are the three top men in the recent 25-game marathon—Nick Kepes, Roy Thompson and Gene Pfleger—as well as Hank LaVasser and Andy Kepes.

While their efforts to raise some money to pay entry fees through sponsorship didn't reach their expectations (some $50 was donated by four persons as well as transportation to and from) their enthusiasm wasn't dampened.

Certainly not when Thompson in a practice game Tuesday night scored a near-perfect 434, sparing on the first frame and leaving a corner pin on the last ball.

Insurance Man and Scribe Agree Much Can Be Done In Beautifying Kelowna

By ED HUNT

AFTER seeing Salt Lake City, Utah, Art Jackson of Kelowna is more than ever convinced that we need to go "all out" on a sustained beautification campaign.

"Okanagan cities look shabby in comparison," says Art. He readily agrees that the Mormon capital had a hundred years start on us and that in the years to come, Kelowna will be a perfect gem.

Pioneers planned wisely and much good work has been done but Art feels that local efforts could be intensified to a much greater extent.

Standing in Temple Square in Salt Lake City, Art visualized the Mormons—all voluntary labor—transforming a wilderness into a thing of beauty, a joy forever; certainly an inspiration to all.

"Where is that spirit today?" asks Art.

"It's been replaced by the dollar sign," I said.

"Take Temple Square in Salt Lake City," said Art. "It was all done by the Mormons. They didn't get paid a cent. Were willing to do it. Imagine their pride today as they stand and survey the beautiful structure. The fruit of their labors."

"How long will it be before that land in front of our new City Hall is beautiful," I interjected.

All-Out Effort
"That's just it!" said Art. "Get 150 to 200 men together and it could be beautified in no time. Get it done now!"

Art feels that tourists and convention could become our major industry. But to reap such a harvest Kelowna has got to wake up; get mobile; be alert; Action; promotion; all this must blend into one vast campaign.

Art agrees that we should have a fountain in front of the City Hall, property fronting the City Hall.

"And floodlight the city hall at night," says Art.

What about Bernard Avenue?
Well, the present lamp standards have a naked, metallic look; much beautification is needed here. He suggested welding crossbars on each lamp standard and have hanging plants something like they have in Victoria.

geraniums... then a three-foot grass boulevard down the centre of Bernard Avenue.

"Kelowna has often been called the 'Victoria of the Okanagan,'" I said, "but to claim this beauty title we need to indulge in a great deal of grooming."

We both agreed that not only would it beautify Kelowna and add to its distinctiveness, but also the boulevards would discourage jay-walking.

Another vital factor is the lamp standards. It would afford protection to two or three of these have already been traffic victims and are difficult, if not impossible to replace.

While we're on Bernard Avenue, look across the lake and what do you see? A beautiful green pine forest overlooking sparkling waters.

"We should do something about that!" according to Art Jackson. "Get the C.N.R. or C.P.R. to build a modern rustic type lodge there... something like Minkal Lodge in Ontario. It would be an ideal spot for a hole golf course and cabins."

"Just imagine a convention coming to Kelowna... the train backs right down to the wharf... delegates are transported via speed boats to the other side."

Ideal Beach
"Wonderful idea," I agreed. "Look at that beach across the lake. It's too good for a reservation. Should be exchanged for other property."

"Every time I see here," Art added. "Fishing, boating, tennis courts, golf course... and they want to come here!"

"Vancouver and Victoria can't cater to all the conventions. They are loaded now. Besides, most delegates to a convention come from large cities to another frenzied metropolis is no pleasure for them. What they want is to come to a refreshing place like Kelowna."

"We need hotels... promotion... all these things we've mentioned need to be done... and some dues annexed at the size of the huge structure."

Though it holds over 8,000 people, it was built with such skill that

Fort Frances Canucks Sidetrack Clippers In Allan Cup Play

Nanaimo Clippers' bid for the Allan Cup was scuttled last night by the Fort Frances Canadians. The Flying Forts pounded out an 11-3 decision over the Clippers at Winnipeg to win the Western Canada championship four games to one.

The Forts, who reached the Western finals three years in succession, but succumbed in the previous two years to the Western Canada Hockey League champs, now will meet either Owen Sound, Ont., or Dolbeau, Que., in the Allan Cup finals.

ARSON GETS KALEDEN MAN THREE YEARS

PENTICTON — Norman Walter Theodors, 43-year-old orchard worker of Kaleden, was sentenced to three years imprisonment after pleading guilty to a charge of arson before His Honor Judge M. M. Colquhoun in County Court.

The charge arose from a fire in January in which completely destroyed the home of Mrs. L. Dingwall, who employed the accused.

Evidence submitted at the preliminary hearing by Magistrate G. A. McLellan in police court yesterday included a statement, made by the accused to the fire marshal in which he stated that he had filled up the stove and placed a broom in such a position that it would be certain to catch fire. Following this act, he went out into the orchard.

Other statements produced in court by John S. Burton, Vancouver counsel, appearing for the fire marshal's department, claimed that the accused had told Mrs. Dingwall that he had lost all his clothing in the fire in addition to a wallet containing $140. The accused had pressed his claim for $200, his legal share of her insurance.

In her evidence, Mrs. Dingwall declared that she was suspicious of the accused when she saw a wallet that he had previously declared he had lost. The witness also stated that she had seen Theodors with items of clothing that he had said were destroyed in the blaze.

The witness stated she was afraid to go to the police because the accused threatened that, if she did, he would implicate her in the alleged crime.

Mrs. Dingwall told the court that she had accompanied the accused to the Penticton bus depot where he had redeemed two bags containing his clothing.

At that time, he said that he had checked the bags in at Christmas. Later during the hearing, several items of clothing were produced which were identified as some of those which were claimed to have been destroyed.

The matter was reported to the police by Mrs. Dingwall after the accused unexpectedly left her home. The investigation and arrest followed.

Testimony was given by the orchardist, who discovered the fire, the assistant fire marshal for the province, an insurance adjuster and a neighbor.

The accused, who was not represented by counsel declined to cross-examine any of the Crown witnesses.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Delightful Concert Given By Talented Young People

An opportunity to gain a little stage experience and confidence before the public, especially if they are entering the forthcoming musical festival, was afforded many of Kelowna's talented young people on Thursday and Friday of last week when the Kelowna Lions Club presented their second annual variety concert. There were good crowds both nights at the senior high school auditorium as the concert, under the auspices of the Kelowna Music Teachers' Association, lived up to its name in variety.

Two kindergarten rhythm bands, one on each night's program, made a decided hit with the audience as the tiny tots decked out in colorful capes and wedge caps performed with prim and proper finesse on the stage, all the time occupied with finding someone they knew in the audience and waving at them, forgetting for the moment they should be beating a triangle or a drum, or tapping wood on clappers together to the time of the music.

The Lions Club has truly recognized the wealth of musical talent to be found among Kelowna's young people and the high calibre of entertainment provided by the pupils proved a background of fine training.

Both evening concerts were opened by selections by the school band, a peppy, wonderful-to-listen-to aggregation conducted by F. Rose.

Piano Duet
Thursday night's program featured a piano duet by two tiny tots, Valerie Mitchell and Betty Mc Cune; another piano duo, "Waltz Me Around," by Gail Carlson and Barbara Gaddes; the Bunny Hutch Kindergarten rhythm band directed by Miss Joan Hamblin; piano solo, "Sonatina in C" by Clement, played by Sheraton Carr-Hill; a square dance, "The Old Timer," which caused many a chuckle in the audience as eight small children dressed like their grandparents used to perform the dances to the accompaniment of director Miss Berthe Fournier and the calls of another youngster.

A piano solo, "The Coming of Spring," was played by Roberta McKee; following which Mrs. H. Gilmour conducted her junior high school choral group in two harmonious numbers, "The Footpath Way," "Come, Ever Smiling Liberty." Joan Gawley and Fraser Grant performed the "Dance of the Puppets" as a piano duo; James McFarlane gave an excellent rendition of the "Dance of the Sylphs" and "Air" on his violin; "Yellow Butterfly" was Ronald Ansel's piano solo; and Miss Georgina Steele sang "Hedge Roses" followed by the appealing "Sail, Baby, Sail."

An exhibition of tumbling by local high school students under the direction of Miss Jo Fournier followed a delightful piano duo by Rita Armstrong and Kathleen Weisbeck.

Elgar Choir Contestant
The second half of Thursday night's program commenced with a piano solo, "The Yellow Butterfly" by Lloyd Morin, and then Miss Michi Tomiyev favored with the "Wayfarers Night Song" and "Come, Sweet Morning" in her pleasant soprano voice. Several piano solos on the program were interspersed with a clarinet solo by John Steele, who played "Penny Lane" and "Londonderry Air," a violin solo by Danny Ferguson whose selection was "Corrente" and a favorite, "Andalucia" played on two pianos by Jane Kerry and Carol Evans.

Patience, pianists were Patricia Renfrew, "Dance Caprice," L. Ghezzi, "Sonata Op. 49, 1st Movement" by Beethoven; Walter Bresch, "Scherzo in D flat"; Richard Unwin, "Sarabande" and "Allegro Maestoso"; and Marietta Anderson, "Grand Waltz in A flat" by Chopin.

Miss Betty Manning, who leaves in June for England and the Continent with the Elgar Junior Choir, was greeted with applause when she appeared on the stage to sing "Spring" by Handel.

Three Bedell youngsters opened Friday night's concert following some stirring band music by the school band. They were tiny Pauline Bedell who played "Traffic Cop" and "Penny Candy" and then Ennery followed with "Scissors Grinders" and "Stepping Stones," and Raymond finished the family act by playing the "Yellow Butterfly."

Another presentation of "The Old Timers" in square dances was followed by little Kay Baron, a pianist who played "Daddy's Waltz" and "Little Elfin Dance" in a very capable manner.

Rhythm Band
Other piano solos were by tiny Gwen Garraway, "Air," and "Butterfly"; "Airplane Ride" and "Oranges and Lemons" by Lynn McCarthy; a duet, "Dance of the Puppets" by Debbie Friesen and Maureen Pointer; "The Merry Peasant" by Gail Henker; "En Autunno" by Margaret Anne Rounce; "Waltz in A flat" by Georgina Steele; and another duo, "Dance" played by Marlene Schellenberg.

and Jerry Wilson.
Tiny Colin Waddell was the soloist and Rosalind Burnell the conductor in the rhythm band selections. Olive Spiller entertained with two violin solos, "Air" and "Tip Toe Dance"; and an interesting tap routine was performed by junior high school students under the direction of Miss Berthe Fournier.

Also on the program was a piano solo, "Song of the Lark" by Marjorie Catchpole; trumpet solo, "Chaconne" and "The World is Waiting," by Verne Gorby; piano solo "Piano Portrait" by Jane Kerry; vocal solo, "Giannina Mia" and "In Love With Vienna" by talented Gloria Homes; piano solo, "Sonata in A" by Judy Wilson; violin solo, "Bourrie" and "Country Dance" by Roy Smith; vocal solo, "Caro Meo Ben" by Aiden Spiller, another talented local youth who will join the Elgar Junior Choir in its European tour this summer; a piano duet, "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" by Judy Wilson and Jane Kerry; followed by a piano solo, Chopin's "Waltz in E Minor" by Carol Evans.

Continuing the concert, Alvin Nichols presented a clarinet solo, "Peppercorn" and "Minuet Caprice"; and the evening's entertainment was concluded by a happy aggregation from the Rutland high school in three pleasing numbers, "Bluebird of Happiness," "Cwmrhonda" and "Skip to Lou." Their conductor is J. Billyeald.

MANY FRIENDS CONGRATULATE LOCAL COUPLE

"I don't know whether you can call that lucky or unlucky," said Mrs. J. M. Salsbury, of the Friday, the 13th observance of the 53rd wedding anniversary of herself and her husband. "But we've lived together for 53 happy years, and are still going, so."

Mr. and Mrs. Salsbury, who were married at Bozeman, Montana, will have lived in Kelowna six years this July. They moved here, partly for health reasons and partly because they were taken with the city and district from Clyde, Alta., where they had resided for about 25 years.

Many of their friends dropped in to see them at their home at 459 Wandaw Avenue, to wish them happiness Friday evening.

The couple (Mr. Salsbury was 79 in October, while his wife was 71 this month), had almost forgotten the occasion, until they received a letter of congratulations from a niece. They go by the name of The Salsburys, who is a resident in Vancouver.

SAYS OPPORTUNITY TO SERVE SOCIETY NEVER GREATER

Rotary president-elect, H. A. Truswell, and new directors, held a special luncheon following the Rotary luncheon on Tuesday.
 A "Vocational Service" report, given by Terry Greenwood, was the only report at the luncheon. Reports from various committees were given the previous week. Mr. Truswell is the chairman of the vocational service committee.
 The favorable report presented by Mr. Greenwood was well received. Dealing with the ethics and dignity of such a service, Mr. Greenwood stated that it was both local and international in scope. "The opportunity to serve society was never greater," he said. "Society looks to Rotary for leadership and guidance."

Well-Known Local Couple Are Married At Vancouver

Kelowna shares interest with the coast in the wedding which took place Saturday, April 14, at St. Andrew's-Wesley United Church, Vancouver, uniting Gladys Marguerite Daynard and Frank Joseph Schmidt, Rev. O. W. S. McCall officiating at the 3 p.m. ceremony for the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Daynard, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Schmidt, all of Kelowna.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Clarence N. Daynard, of Vancouver, the bride was gownned in traditional white satin, the fitted bodice fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and lily-point sleeves, a tiny gathered bustle giving back interest to the skirt. A coronet of bugle beads caught her veil and long train appliqued with flowers which misted over her costume, and she carried a bouquet of red roses, white carnations and heather. She wore the groom's gift of a necklace, earrings and bracelet set of rhinestones.

A trio of pastel-gowned attendants preceded the bride. As her sister's maid of honor, Miss Ruth Daynard wore green, while another sister, Miss Marjorie Daynard, wore yellow, and Miss Rose Schmidt, sister of the groom, wore blue. Styled alike, the dresses were strapless models, with fitted bodices topped by flattering capes, with which they wore matching headresses and net gloves. They carried colonial bouquets of carnations, daffodils and violets.

Best man was Mr. Frank Ackerman, formerly of Kelowna, while Mr. Matthew Schmidt and Mr. Mike Wishinski, ushered the guests. Spring flowers were used to provide a pretty setting in the church. Soloist Miss Micky Burgess sang "Because" during the signing of the register.

A wedding supper was served later at the Hastings Ball Room with a dance following attended by about 125 guests. A toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Len Wagner, of Vancouver, and responded by the groom.

Bouquets of mauve and yellow spring flowers and crystal candle holders flanked each side of the three-tiered wedding cake highlighting the bride's table.

For her daughter's marriage, the bride's mother chose a blue-grey ensemble accessorized in white with a gardenia and red carnations corsage. The groom's mother was attired in a pale blue flowered dress with grey accessories and wore gardenias and pink carnations on corsage.

The newlyweds left later on a short honeymoon trip by car to Seattle and the southern states. For travelling, the bride donned a grey-blue suit with matching shortie and navy accessories. Her corsage was of orchids and heather. Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Schmidt will reside at 2226 E. 35th Avenue, Vancouver.

Included among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. E. E. Daynard, the bride's mother; Mrs. William Westie, Mr. and Mrs. P. Schmidt, the groom's parents; Matthew Schmidt, all of Kelowna; Mrs. C. Greenan of Powell River; Mr. and Mrs. J. Tolman, of British River; Mr. and Mrs. A. Rutka, of Seattle, and Mrs. W. Rutka of Winnipeg.

is a form of blackmail which is pressed continuously until in desperation a bloodier war, a greater war, is forced upon the victim.

Red China could be defeated in an all-out war; it is fighting at the limit of its capacity now. If China were invaded, he felt it unlikely that Russia would interfere. The Chinese intervention in Korea was due more to Chinese Communist greediness, the lust to conquer, than to active backing by Russia. Russia would wait the most favorable opportunity to strike, he did not feel that it would intervene in China.

Critics who said we are not strong enough to wage a major war in Europe and in Asia, overlook the fact that the enemy, too, would be busy on two fronts and dividing his forces as surely as we would.

Speaking of Japan, he said that country had undergone a tremendous reformation and had a representative government working for social justice and freedom of economic enterprise. Japan will not again fail Germany. Socially, politically and economically, it is abreast of many of the democratic countries. "I know of no country more serene, orderly and industrious," he said.

Announcing his retirement, he said "old soldiers never die—they only fade away." MacArthur said he intends to "fade away."

lie the ashes of these unfortunate. It's a visit that creates quite an impression. Amidst the silence of the empty halls you can feel the presence of those nameless thousands. In the closeness of the gas chambers, the impression of horror and despair forces you out and the sight of the gaping mouths of the furnaces complete with ingenious apparatus for sliding the corpses in, is a sight that turns one's stomach.

Kind People
Outside in the fresh air, you begin to reason again and you realize that the Germans, as a people, are human like all of us, possessing the same feeling for human life and dignity. But you realize also what can happen when a people gives up its freedom and personal liberty and places itself in the hands of a few. For at that moment it gives up also its conscience and sentiments and becomes but a slave of the masters.

(Editor's Note—Censored)
My knowledge of German is limited to a very few words but in all cases I found the people kind, generous and extremely pleasant. You wonder how these people could have produced such a Frankenstein monster that formed them all into believers in the super-race. I repeat that I found the Germans kind and friendly, and that is why it is so impossible to understand how they could produce a "Dachau."

More About 4 ALBERTA SOCIAL

Colborne and Mr. Kennedy outlined the philosophy of Social Credit and referred to the rapid progress Alberta has made during the past 15 years.

"We are not here for the purpose of comparing B.C. with Alberta. We are not here to pick a quarrel with B.C. We mean to tell you the story of the Social Credit movement," Mr. Colborne stated.

Recognize God
"One of the fundamental principles of Social Credit is recognizing the existence of God. 'If a government denies the existence of God, then it denies the people their rights and privileges,' he said.

Following the meeting a local Social Credit group was organized. H. A. Shirreff was chosen president and a three-man organizing committee was also appointed. Mr. Shirreff stated it is planned to hold a series of study group meetings.

Tracing the history of Social Credit in the prairie province, Mr. Colborne stated all provinces have the same problems. In Alberta, it is not because we produce better leaders. It is not because of our natural resources. But it is the policies and the principles practiced by the government and applied in the management of affairs.

Reducing Debt
The speaker declared that Alberta is steadily reducing its debt, and he denied that this was largely due to the huge oil fields. "The value of agriculture produce last year was $517 million and yet last year oil production was valued at only $147 million," he stated.

"Don't let people tell you Alberta's prosperity is due to oil. A lot of people sat on that oil long before Social Credit took office."

"If the people of Canada examine social credit with an open mind and apply it to their own problems, they can get the answer they want in the management of their affairs," he concluded.

Orvis Kennedy lashed out at monied interests and how finance had controlled the last two wars. Four basic principles of social credit are the individual; governments can never be elected on political party slush funds; freedom with security; anything physically possible is financially possible.

Mr. Kennedy answered a number of questions dealing with hospital insurance, car licences, school teachers' salaries and pensions.

NO COMMENT ON REFUSAL AID GROWERS

Ivor Newman, president of the BCFA, this morning declined to comment on the report that the federal government, for the second time, has turned down assistance to fruit growers who suffered severe losses due to the cold winter of 1949-50.

Mr. Newman, who has been under doctor's orders for some time, explained that J. G. Campbell, Salmon Arm, is chairman of the committee, and that he had been out of touch with developments since he was on the "sick list." F. L. Fitzpatrick is understood to have been in Ottawa during the past week to make further representations to the federal government. He was due home today. Mr. Newman said a conference would be called upon Mr. Fitzpatrick's return.

Earlier this week Agriculture Minister James Gardiner said the federal government feels the question of financial assistance for growers who suffered tree damage by frost, is one for the provincial government to handle.

The minister was questioned by O. L. Jones, M.P. (Yale) and H. W. Herdridge, M.P. (Kootenay West) with regard to either direct federal assistance or long term, low-interest loans for B.C. growers.

The minister said with regard to financial assistance, it was felt that the amount involved was within the power of the province to handle. He said the same applied with respect to long-term low interest loans.

In reply to a question by Mr. Herdridge regarding tabling of correspondence with federal government in the matter, the minister said "some documents" had been tabled.

General Stein said once committees have been set up, the province will appoint a general co-ordinator for the whole valley. It will not be a remunerative job, but the co-ordinator's expenses will be paid by the B.C. government, he said.

Questioned whether the Okanagan would be flooded by evacuees from Vancouver in the event a bomb was dropped in Seattle area, General Stein said it is possible road blocks would be set up at New Westminster to prevent wholesale evacuation. Traffic would then be funnelled through on an orderly basis.

The Okanagan Valley has been named as one of the key reception areas in the event of an attack, he continued. For this reason committees must be set up to organize municipalities; be prepared to give financial aid to other nearby areas, and be prepared to accommodate and hospitalize casualties from less-fortunate areas.

General Stein said military officials do not foresee an attack on the Okanagan, but there is always the possibility an enemy aircraft might get lost and drop bombs wherever there is a cluster of lights.

Each target area has been assigned a "cushion area" whose job it will be to accept the first shock. Action in this case would be to stop any panic and prevent people moving out for at least 48 hours when reception areas will be notified.

Close Liaison
It is imperative to have the closest liaison possible between valley organizations, he continued. If you don't get close liaison, it is no use carrying on. For this reason he suggested forming a planning committee and a control council.

The co-ordinating officer said it is planned to set up several training schools in B.C. and it is hoped to have several thousand civil defence instructors within a few months after the schools are started.

In suggesting that the committee adopt a "middle course" until the framework of the civil defence organization is completed, General Stein declared there is no intention of civil defence authorities adopting an autocratic rule over a municipality. "It is simply a suggestion," he said.

A series of pertinent questions were asked by representatives of many answers of which were of an off-the-record nature.

It is planned to have future meetings, when the quarterly conferences of the Okanagan Valley Municipal Association are held.

A civil defence bill authorizing the government to assume emergency powers in the event of a disaster, emergency from enemy attack, sabotage or other hostile attack, was announced by Hon. W. T. Strath, provincial secretary.

The bill includes: To enter into agreements with the dominion government, any province, municipality, person, firm or corporation;

Fifth fire getting attention yesterday from local firefighters was a blaze in the hay barn of Archie Hardy, Benvenuto. However, prompt action by Mr. Hardy and others, who formed a bucket brigade, drawing water from Mill Creek close by, had the blaze under control by the time the fire truck arrived. Damage was reported to be slight.

Cause of the barn fire wasn't known immediately. Damage could have run into hundreds of dollars as the barn was partially filled with hay.

Y.M.C.A. Officer Hopes Branch Will Be Organized in Kelowna

WILL a Y.M.C.A. be established in Kelowna?

Lavern M. Herbert, B.Sc., graduate of George Williams Y.M.C.A. College, Chicago, sincerely hopes so.

As guest speaker at the Rotary luncheon on Tuesday, Mr. Herbert stated that his work is to help new communities to organize and establish Y.M.C.A.'s in their communities, later to assist and help them carry out their plans.

On a tour of all Y.M.C.A.'s from Sudbury west, the extension secretary of the national council of Y.M.C.A.'s in Canada, with head office in Toronto, said that there are now 96 Y.M.C.A.'s in Canada.

Mr. Herbert was last in Kelowna in 1949. Gordon D. Herbert of this city is a brother. Vice-president Fred Weber acted as chairman of the meeting.

Tomorrow Mr. Herbert will present Trail with a Y.M.C.A. charter.

Mrs. Hoagy Carmichael Compares Blue Bonnet — Finds It's Best Buy

Here's a hint from Mrs. Hoagy Carmichael. Compare Blue Bonnet Margarine with any spread at any price. Like the composer's wife, you'll love Blue Bonnet's fresh, sweet flavor. Rich nutrition! Real economy! Blue Bonnet is Canada's fine quality all-vegetable margarine.

Blue Bonnet comes in the famous Yellow Quik bag—colors in 2 minutes flat. Also in the economical regular package, with color wafer.

"Our Toronto office recognizes Kelowna as a growing, thriving community," said the Y delegate. "You should have a Y.M.C.A. here."

"We have a full report on your growth, including an age breakdown of your young people."

However, this has to develop from the grass roots, he said. Only when the local community feels the need for it does the Y.M.C.A. move in.

The speaker reminded his listeners that happiness is not wealth, good times, yachts, or an orchard in California.

"You can't live only for self," he said.

"We need something bigger than we are."

"People... causes... no person is as uninteresting as a person without interests."

"The only happiness is squandering ourselves for a purpose."

Making reference to the human problem in industry, Mr. Herbert said that leaders are needed to work with people and to help them.

The young adult program of the Y.M.C.A. is dedicated to good training, they in turn give direction to youth.

It was a mistake, he said, to think that the government should look after recreation. Full responsibility was not theirs. It was up to private enterprise to work with the government.

Mr. Herbert paid tribute to the local So-ed group and to "a fine Hi-Y."

As for the Y.M.C.A., "the Y has the know how."

"This is our centennial year. The Y.M.C.A. has been at work in Canada for 100 years and is proud of so many continuous years of experience."

Record of "Y"

Formed in Montreal—giving Canada a high honor—the Y was then established in Boston. Of course the Y saw earlier service in the old country.

What is the record of the Y during all these years?

It was the Y.M.C.A. that first introduced basketball, volleyball, gymnastics and the father and son companionship idea. The Y also promoted and introduced libraries and swimming pools.

As for leadership training and other Y.M.C.A. activities across Canada, 54% of the work is now done in small offices with the help of Hi-Y, So-ed, and other active groups.

What is the forgotten age-group? "Those boys between 18 and 25," said the speaker.

"Many of these are not connected with service clubs."

The Y.M.C.A. has been a great cause for good, and in recognition of this fact, a huge gathering of from five to seven thousand Y delegates will gather in Cleveland in June to commemorate the event.

Heads of Country

Barring the eruption of a universal holocaust, both President Truman and Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent, will be on the platform together. It is fitting that two great leaders—though of opposing faiths—be present on such an occasion; the Y has served humanity in many sections of the world, regardless of their religion or the pigmentation.

Leading laymen in various communities are keenly interested in "the Y" today, the extension secretary said.

"There is a new interest in youth."

"It is wrong to say that youth is going to the dogs. It is fitting that trouble with the world today is young people."

"What we need are more examples for our young people, less critics," said the Y.M.C.A. authority.

However, young people cannot run their own show. They have not the necessary maturity and lack experience.

"We must offer that and team up with them to meet the great problems of today," said Mr. Herbert.

Making reference to the world of today and the speed of it all, he said that every hour, twenty-four hours a day, eight people are killed by an automobile.

The picture took on a blue haze when he said that, every hour, $2,000,000 is spent on tobacco.

As for the aspirin habit it was just one big headache, 400,000,000 pounds of aspirin a year is used on this continent.

For every $1 spent on books, there is $27 spent on chewing gum. "And there are some sections of the world where they haven't even money for one pair of shoes."

Lashes Communism

Impressionistic youth was constantly under the influence of radio, press, and now television, said the speaker. The pattern was set and youth found itself involved in that kind of a world.

Lashing out at communism, Mr. Herbert pulled no punches when he exclaimed "We can't defeat communism by means of the sword."

"We need an idealism greater than communism."

"Christian democracy is far better."

"Let us hold our heads high, and, with the police force, the army, etc., take our stand."

"We must challenge that we have a method of life greater than communism, as sixty-seven countries hope and pray."

"To defeat communism, we must meet it with military strength, then with an ideal of better understanding for all, especially youth."

Introduced by Trevor Pickering, the speaker was thanked by Jud Ribelin.

Study Trout Circulation In Okanagan, Skaha Lakes

B.C. Game Department's fish restocking program goes on unabated, latest official reports show, though the Kelowna area benefitted little from the operations of the past year.

Heavy plantings here in 1948 and 1949 apparently were regarded as sufficient for the time being. This district's only gain from last year's activities was 15,000 Eastern Brook trout fingerlings in Okanagan Lake at the mouth of Mill Creek.

In a few years from now anglers will be catching some marked Kamloops trout in Okanagan and Skaha lakes. Some 30,000 were liberated recently to ascertain the circulation of trout in these two lakes.

The 15,000 freed in Okanagan Lake had their right ventral and their adipose fins removed. Those fingerlings released in Skaha Lake are going around without their left ventrals.

The 15,000 Brook trout released in the Mill Creek mouth all came from the Summerland Hatchery, raised from eggs supplied by the Vernon Hatchery.

The marked Kamloops trout fingerlings liberated in Okanagan and Skaha lakes are from the batch liberated in the Summerland rear-landed ponds in November, 1949. Balance of these (there were some 210,000 liberated altogether) went into lakes in the Similkameen, Okanagan and Revelstoke areas.

Peachland Benefits

Lakes in the Peachland area were planted with a fair amount of Kamloops trout advanced fry last year. Peachland Lake (or reservoir) had 10,000 and Silver Lake 5,000.

The advanced fry came from the Summerland Hatchery, from eyed eggs from Beaver Lake.

Collection of Kamloops trout eggs in Beaver Lake last year, as mentioned previously in The Kelowna Courier, totalled 3,500,000—the highest on record and believed to be the highest collection at any station in the province.

Of the 3½ million eggs, collected under the supervision of F. B. Lucas, fishery officer, 75 per cent went to hatcheries in Summerland, Revelstoke, Cranbrook, Nelson, Kamloops and Courtenay.

Kelowna rearing ponds got 257,000 eggs, Mabel Lake 100,000, Sugar Lake and Eight-mile Lake both 50,000 and 60,000 went back into Beaver Lake.

MIXED BOWLING LOOP WINDS UP '50-51 SEASON

Lloyd Flintoft and Miss Pearl Toepfer New President and Secretary-Treasurer, Respectively

After two years guiding the destinies of the Mixed Bowling League President Johnny Daynard and Secretary-Treasurer Mrs. Dot Moebes have retired to be succeeded by Lloyd Flintoft and Miss Pearl Toepfer.

Election of new officers took place Saturday night at the Orange Hall during the banquet and dance that annually brings down the curtain on the season.

Johnny Jenkins was elected vice-president, while Ben Miller will act on the executive as a director. Stylemarts were presented with McGavin's Trophy, emblematic of the league supremacy. Nearly every player in the league shared in the prize monies distributed at the same time.

Favor Tuesdays

The brief business meeting was overwhelmingly in favor of returning to Tuesday nights for the weekly bowling sessions instead of Fridays. It was also decided to hold a summer social, nature of which will be decided later. Each team will be required to provide an item of entertainment.

Success of Saturday's social and those in the past was attested by the fact that virtually every one who bowled in the league, was present.

MINOR LACROSSE PARLEY TONIGHT

At the annual meeting of the Kelowna Lacrosse Club three members of the executive were named to a minor lacrosse committee. They were: Eric Holland, the club president, Bill Baker and Laurie White.

Baker, chairman of the committee, has called a special minor lacrosse meeting for tonight at 7:30 in the board room of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. The committee is hoping everyone who wants to see the game, thrive will turn out for tonight's parley.

MEN'S ROLLOFFS AWAY MONDAY; SEASON'S WIND-UP WEDNESDAY

It's rolloff time in the Men's Commercial Bowling League at the Bowladrome and by late Monday night will be known which of six teams will possess the Builders Supply Trophy for the ensuing year.

Actually, when the last pin was knocked over Monday night, there were seven teams in the running. Post Office and Rutland Cubs both ended with 35 points—a dead heat for the last of three playoff berths for the second half of the scheduled play.

Cubs and Post Office were slated for a special rolloff Wednesday night. Post Office also gained a tie for the third berth at the conclusion of the first flight, but lost out in the tie-breaking rolloff.

Six Games Monday

Others in the rolloff for the league championship are: Copp's Shoe Store, Industrial Electric No. 1 and Creuzot Construction. Oak Barbers, Post Office, Rutland Cubs, B. A. Oil, Industrial Electric No. 2, Builders Supply, Simpson's Maintenance, School Teachers, Occidental Fruit, Kelowna Growers Exchange, Sutton's Meat Market and Victory Motors.

Roll-offs begin Monday at 7 p.m. Team members will be selected that the rolloffs will be a six-games-in-one-night affair this year. Team with the highest six-game aggregate (including handicap) wins the marbles.

League officials would appreciate voluntary assistance from anyone who would act as scorekeeper during the rolloffs. Volunteers are asked to leave their names at the Bowladrome.

The season will be appropriately wound up in festive manner at a banquet in the Legion on Wednesday night of next week at 8:30 p.m. At that time the championship Builders Supply trophy and five others and prize monies will be distributed.

A short business meeting also is on the agenda. Since league play-

PEACHLAND ALLOWED IN BALL LEAGUE

A combined Peachland-Westbank entry was accepted by the B.C. Interior Baseball League, President A. W. Gray of Rutland announced this week.

The team will be called Peachland, but will be bolstered by players from Westbank. Peachland's entry now makes for a seven-team loop. Others in the set-up are: Rutland, Winfield, Salmon Arm, Revelstoke, Kamloops CYO and Kamloops Okanots (Now Kamloops). Gray also announced a change in the first games, set for April 29. League openers now are: Rutland at Kamloops CYO; Kamloops Okanots at Winfield and Salmon Arm at Revelstoke.

Balance of the schedule is under preparation by the league, previously assisted by the secretary, Jim Kirta of Rutland.

CRICKET LOOP BEGINS MAY 13

Cricketers have set May 6 as the date for the official start of the season.

On that Sunday, at Athletic Oval, the Kelowna Cricket Club will stage its annual captain versus vice-captain pick-up match. By that time the team that will represent the Orchard City in the long-established Spencer Cup Cricket League will probably have been selected.

Club officials report some young prospects have shown up, all pointing to a strong team. Most of last year's team are here as well. League play starts on May 13 and concludes on July 29. Winner of the cup will meet an all-star team chosen from the other three teams in the league on August 12.

Here is the league schedule:

MAY
13—Kelowna at Vernon Farmers; Vernon Legion at Naramata.
20—Naramata at Kelowna; Vernon Farmers at Vernon Legion.
27—Kelowna at Vernon Legion; Vernon Farmers at Naramata.

JUNE
3—Vernon Farmers at Kelowna; Naramata at Vernon Legion.
10—Vernon Legion at Vernon Farmers.

JULY
8—Vernon Legion at Kelowna; Naramata at Vernon Farmers.
15—Kelowna at Naramata; Vernon Legion at Vernon Farmers.
22—Naramata at Kelowna.

TRAP SHOOTERS FEEL PINCH OF COSTLIER DAYS

Today's high costs are felt in still another endeavor. Trap shoots, a weekly event in the past, will be held every two weeks now—for the time being, at least—due mostly to the prevailing prices on equipment.

First test of the Kelowna Trap Shooting Club, a section of the Kelowna and District Rod and Gun Club, was held Sunday at the range near the K.L.O. road.

Jim Treadgold, using his new shotgun on clay pigeons for the first time, had a run of 25 straight for the second perfect in his life. The shoot also featured a smart performance from ten-year-old Gordon Rae.

Scores for the day were: J. Treadgold 25; R. Haldane 24; B. Thompson 23; G. Finch 23; A. Bennett 23; C. Thompson 22; F. Jena 22; W. Rae 21; C. Porter 21; S. Duggan 19; T. McLaughlin 16; G. Rae 6.

WINTER LAYOFF FAILS TO DIM MARKSMANSHIP

First outing of the Kelowna B.C. Rifle Association drew 21 target-hunters to the Glenmore links Sunday.

The two hills—George and Dan (no relation)—showed the way by ending up with 98 points in the three shoots (100, 200 and 500 yards) out of a possible 105.

Others with scores of 90 or better were: Sam Lee 93; Bill Franko 93; George Kenney 91; Paul Jansen 90; Clarence Henderson 90.

Rifle shoots are held every Sunday at the Glenmore range starting at 9 a.m. New members are welcome. Prospects may get all necessary information from C. Henderson, the secretary, at Henderson's Cleaners.

Twilight Ball League Annual Meeting Tonight

Annual meeting of the Central Okanagan Baseball League, also known as the twilight loop, will be held tonight at Woods Lake Lodge at 8 o'clock. Number of teams in Kelowna and the loop's directing officers will be known after the meeting.

MEET TONIGHT TO DETERMINE 1951 SOFTBALL ACTIVITIES

How many teams will be operating in the men's softball league and whether there'll be a women's loop probably will be decided tonight when the annual meeting of the Kelowna and District Softball Association is held.

The parley is called for 8 o'clock in the office of Recreational Director Jim Panton in the City Hall.

Last year a successful men's league evoked more interest among sports fans than in years, but with only one women's team, there was no feminine circuit.

Election of officers for the coming season also is on tonight's agenda. Managers and coaches of all teams intending to play this year are urged to turn out. Everyone interested in softball in any way is invited to attend.

GOLFERS SEEK HOWELL, REES CUPS SUNDAY

Shotmakers will be swinging in earnest Sunday when the first competition of the season is expected to bring local and district males out in force—provided the weatherman doesn't queer the do, that is.

It will be the Howell and Rees cups up for medal play over 18 holes. Tee-off time is 9 a.m.

The Howell Cup is for competition among men with handicaps of 20 or better and is expected to entice most of the high handicappers who usually prefer to stay in the background and let Sam Sneed or some local counterpart rake in the hardware and the glory.

Rees Cup also is a handicap affair for players with 19 and under. It was won last year by Earl Hoffmann. Defending Howell Cup holder is Tommy Tomiye.

Westbank W.I. Opposes Monday Holiday Proposal And B.C.H.I.S. Increase

WESTBANK—To celebrate the twenty-third anniversary of Westbank Women's Institute, members and friends gathered at the home of Mrs. T. B. Reece Tuesday afternoon and following a business session enjoyed games and refreshments, including a birthday cake complete with the required number of candles.

Mrs. T. B. Reece and Mrs. W. H. Moffatt were appointed to a resolutions committee to accept resolutions for presentation to the one-day conference of South Okanagan Institutes to be held at East Kelowna next month. Two resolutions were unanimously passed at the meeting; one opposing the changing of the date of national holidays to Monday of the week in which the holiday occurs. The main objection to such change was that the significance of holidays such as May 24 and July 1 would be lost if they were not celebrated on their particular dates. The second resolution dealt with the B.C.H.I.S. and opposed the latest increase in premiums as well as the co-insurance clause. Mrs. W. MacLachlan, appointed as delegate to the conference, will present these resolutions, and any others handed to the resolutions committee before May 1.

Mrs. J. H. Blackey, president, reported on a visit paid to the Lloyd-Jones home for senior citizens, and the presentation by W.W.I. of gifts made at Easter to the occupants. This presentation consisted of apples, chocolates, cigarettes and Easter cards with stamps for mailing. Trade Board members L. T. Hanam and C. G. Duffy will replace F. Blesdale and Mr. Coutts on the combined Institute and Trade Board Fall Fair Board.

Mrs. C. R. Cameron volunteered to convene a social committee to take charge of refreshments and thus relieve hostesses at whose homes regular Institute meetings are held. Members will take turns in serving on this committee. Mrs. W. MacLachlan acted as emcee for the games held following the business session and was assisted by Mrs. Cameron. Prize winners in the amusing contests were Mrs. W. H. H. Moffatt, Mrs. G. Gillis, Mrs. C. J. Tolhurst, Mrs. J. H. Blackey and Mrs. D. Gellatly. Mrs. Clifford Dobbin entertained the gathering with two piano selections before the tea hour.

Trepanier Lodge No. 83, A.F. & A.M. entertained a large number of guests at their annual evening of dancing in Westbank Memorial Hall, earlier this month.

D. Lawson, of Armstrong, district, was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hewlett last week.

Mrs. R. A. Pritchard has returned home from Victoria where she attended the Progressive Conservative convention held in that city.

Miss A. Ingram spent a recent holiday in the coast cities of Vancouver and Victoria, flying home on her return at the end of last week. She was accompanied to the coast by her brother, AB W. Ingram, who has returned to Esquimalt following several weeks leave spent at the home of his parents here, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ingram. AB Ingram plans to complete a radar course aboard the Naden, following recent months of service in Korean waters with HMCS Sioux.

Illness necessitated that Mrs. E. J. Taylor travel via C.N. to Vancouver for treatment on Monday last. She was accompanied by Mr. Taylor and her many friends wish her a rapid and complete recovery.

The Jr. W. A. of Westbank United church held a pie social on Friday of last week. The evening's entertainment was well attended, the funds from which to go into the W.A. treasury for use in their work of assisting in church activities.

SUMMERLAND MAY ABOLISH POLL TAX

SUMMERLAND—Poll tax, that nuisance tax which annually causes a great deal of dissatisfaction amongst those who are forced to pay it, may soon be discarded in this municipality. The B.C. legislature is passing an act this session which would abolish poll tax collections in unorganized territory. Municipalities can discontinue collections now, but heretofore the province held the right to enter the municipality and collect poll tax if the municipality refused to do so.

Councillor Norman Holmes pointed to the paltry $165 collected from 39 payees in 1950 in presenting a motion that this tax be abolished. Councillor E. M. Tait was quick to second the motion.

However, at the request of Councillor F. E. Atkinson, the decision was deferred until next council session.

"It is impossible to collect," queried Councillor Atkinson and he was informed by Municipal Clerk Gordon Smith that it had become evident that it could not be collected equitably.

URGE GROWERS TO COMPLETE NEW CONTRACT

VERNON—Sign this contract as soon as you get it and try to get your neighbor to do the same. That was the advice of V. E. Ellison, president of the Vernon Fruit Union and member of the B.C.F. G.A. contract committee, gave grower members of the union at their annual meeting in Oyma. The contract between the grower, shipper and central sales agency, B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., has been revised and will be distributed shortly.

Urging growers to sign up immediately, Mr. Ellison said: "You know, in trying times such as we are experiencing at present some growers lay the blame on the shoulders of Tree Fruits, without a thought to world markets which directly control the price we get for our product. As a result of this, they may be backward in signing."

Also in his annual report, Mr. Ellison stressed the importance of the Associated Growers, and the advisability of continuing this organization. "It is cost to the grower is very small and the fact that roughly 50 percent of the Valley tonnage works, thinks and can speak as one voice has a very steady influence on the industry."

Naval Officer Takes Okanagan Mission Girl as Bride

A wedding of interest to Okanagan Mission took place in Sandwich, Kent, England on Saturday, April 14, when Jane, eldest daughter of the late Brigadier H. H. Angle and Mrs. Angle, of Okanagan Mission, became the bride of Sub-Lieut. Robin Young, R.C.N., eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. K. R. Young, also of Okanagan Mission. The bride was given away by her grandfather, Mr. W. A. Mitchell. The bride's attendant was her sister, Jill, and the groom was supported by his brother, Sub-Lieut. Keith Young, R.C.N.

Trail Will Be Future Home Of Newly-Married Couple

Trail will be the future home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Louis Guglielmin, who were married in the Church of the Immaculate Conception here Saturday, April 14, at 11 a.m. by Rev. A. V. Maglio. The bride, the former Alia Lucia Mattioli, is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Mattioli, of Kelowna, and the groom is the eldest son of Mrs. A. Guglielmin and the late Mr. Guglielmin, of Trail.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was a pretty picture in all-white. Her bridal gown featured a ballerina-length satin skirt topped by a Chantilly lace jacket styled waist-length with round collar and long sleeves, and a row of tiny covered buttons at the front. Her satin Juliet cap, trimmed with Lily-of-the-Valley, held her veil which misted train-length over her costume. Her all-white bouquet was a semi-cascade of carnations, stephanotis, and hyacinth flowers. Her only jewelry was a cameo pendant, gift of the groom.

Attendants were Miss Irma Mattioli, as her sister's maid of honor, and bridesmaid Miss Dorothy West. Yellow and aqua, respectively, were the colors chosen for their dresses styled alike in broadened taffeta. They wore headresses of flowers to match their colonial bouquets. Miss Mattioli's being of yellow and blue spring flowers centred with a pink rose, and Miss West's being in yellow and lilac.

The groom's brother, Mr. Alfred Guglielmin, was best man, while Mr. Frank Wilby and Mr. Joseph Mondali came from Trail to act as ushers.

Daffodils and iris provided a pretty setting in the church for the ceremony at which Miss Monica Geisinger was organist. As soloist, Mr. John Sugars sang "Ave Maria" during the service.

About 100 guests attended the reception which followed at the Canadian Legion Hall where the principals' mothers helped in the receiving line. For the occasion the bride's mother chose a dress of wine fallie accessorized in grey and wore a corsage of a gardenia with white hyacinth flowers. The groom's mother was attired in navy and white accessories, and a gardenia with shell-pink carnations in corsage.

Father A. Maglio responded to a bridal toast proposed by Mr. P. Capozzi.

The table featured lovely arrangements of spring flowers in silver containers, while highlighting the bride's table was the three-tiered wedding cake flanked on either side by daffodils and iris.

Five of the bride's friends assisted with the serving. They were Miss Gwyneth Foulds, Miss Macintosh, Miss Muriel Patterson-Caw, Miss Millicent Richards, and Miss Palmera Rampone.

A two-week honeymoon by bus will take the newlyweds to Vancouver, Portland, Seattle, and Spokane. For travelling, the bride wore a wine suit topped by a navy shortie coat, complemented by wine shoes and bag and white straw bonnet and gloves.

Mr. and Mrs. Guglielmin will reside at 992 Nelson Avenue in Trail. Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mrs. A. Guglielmin, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Manoldi, Miss Lily Guglielmin, Mr. Alfred Guglielmin, Mr. Frank Wilby, Mr. Eddie Ferraro, Mr. Jim Moynes, Mr. and Mrs. L. Borsato, Miss Eileen Ware, Mr. and Mrs. William Ware, Mr. Moldvay Jones, and Mr. Pat Norris.

By the time he got around to the side door, however, things had taken a turn for the worse. The people inside were now shouting at each other. There was wild talk about stealing each other's wives.

What he saw did not alarm him particularly. A number of people were sitting around a table—obviously a meeting of some kind. Actually, he was seeing one of the "Ladies of the Jury," Miss Nancy Gale, raising her voice to the other jurors.

When he was asked later by a member of the "Ladies of the Jury" cast if he intended to see the play, he replied, "I wouldn't miss it for anything!" This makes him one of the best sports in town. Naturally the KLT is sending some complimentary tickets to "Ladies of the Jury" down to the R.C.M.P. offices.

Now if you have one of those skeptical natures which makes you immediately suspect that this whole business was a put-up publicity job, you are paying a compliment to the KLT publicity officer which he sincerely wishes he deserved.

Notes From Little Theatre

If you are one of those persons who keeps procrastinating on this business of picking up tickets—if you always leave it to the last moment to reserve your seats to a show—you would be wise to make an exception in the case of the next KLT production, "Ladies of the Jury." Tickets for this play, which will be produced in the Kelowna Senior High Auditorium on Friday and Saturday, May 4 and 5, are going much faster than was the case for any previous KLT play. Don't be craning your neck in some inconvenient corner when you see this riotous comedy—get your reservations now at Brown's Pharmacy.

Sunday, April 8, will be a day that a lot of KLT members—particularly the players in "Ladies of the Jury"—will never forget. On that evening, about nine o'clock, there occurred a coincidence that was truly fantastic.

In the lounge room of the Aquatic, the cast of "Ladies of the Jury" were working hard—and apparently very successfully—on the second act of their play. Unknown to them, a moutie was making his rounds through the park, looking for this and that. He noticed lights blazing away in the Aquatic building—and decided to find out what was going on. He climbed the stairs, made his way around to the back, and peered in through the french doors.

What he saw did not alarm him particularly. A number of people were sitting around a table—obviously a meeting of some kind. Actually, he was seeing one of the "Ladies of the Jury," Miss Nancy Gale, raising her voice to the other jurors.

MANY FAMILIAR SCENES SHOWN IN ART DISPLAY

Large numbers of local art enthusiasts thronged the Anglican Parish Hall Thursday afternoon and evening of last week to see the water color paintings of Miss Sophie Atkinson. Included among her many scenes were familiar examples of her remarkable brush work depicting Okanagan landscapes, such as Kalamalka and Woods Lake. One particular scene of Kalamalka produced with wonderful color sense the beautiful and transparent green and mauve hues often seen in the lake.

Much of Miss Atkinson's work has been viewed by Lauren Harris, who praised the sincere talent of this fine, simple painter. Not believing in frills and fuss, Miss Atkinson can find beauty even on the clothesline, as was illustrated by a scene she has done of the ice-coated pattern formed by a line full of Mondays washing hung in the back yard during winter.

For the lover of not-touched-by-the-hand-of-man nature, the paintings Miss Atkinson has done of secluded Eva Lake high in the Revelstoke mountains, are absolutely breath-taking in their freshness and ruggedness.

Miss Atkinson, now resident at Revelstoke following her global wanderings for many years, was in Vernon for a two-day show prior to coming here. Presently the guest of Mrs. Keith Tallyour, Okanagan Mission, she expects to leave tomorrow for Summerland where her collection of scenes, which also include several paintings in and around Comox, V.I., will be on display Friday and Saturday.

The noted painter will be in the

The officer, who had come to the conclusion that he had been made the victim of a practical joke, snapped, "Keep it to a meeting!" and left.

Believe it or not, the officer left the Aquatic still unaware of the fact that what he had been watching was a rehearsal of a play. Now how good can a play get? How real can they make them?

Kelowna In Bygone Days

From the Files of The Kelowna Courier

ONE YEAR AGO

Thursday, April 17, 1930

Winds of gale force, accompanied by lashing rain and lightning and thunder, Sunday night caused extensive damage throughout the whole of the province. The entire south Okanagan was in darkness for 3 1/2 hours when power lines were ripped out between Penticton and Oliver.

The Provincial Government has allotted another $13,000 to be spent on improving the banks along Mission Creek.

Formation of a B.C. Fruit Growers' Mutual Life Insurance Company, with G. A. Lundy as chairman of the board of directors, has been announced.

Syd Seymour of Vernon captured ten honors in the second annual Ogopogo Bonspiel. In winning Event 4, the rink of Ed Purdy of Kelowna was dubbed "Iceless Marvels" for being the first local winners in the annual bonspiels.

Long-range plan is for a first-class highway on both sides of the lake and a bridge across it, W. A. C. Bennett, M.L.A. (South Okanagan) told a "Coalition" meeting here.

A total of 725 people donated pints of blood at the two-day Red Cross Blood Donor Clinic to set a record for Kelowna.

Local hospital board has offered to donate to the Provincial Government property adjacent to Kelowna General Hospital for the erection of a hospital for chronic patients.

TEN YEARS AGO

Thursday, April 17, 1921

Twenty thousand apple trees, mostly off varieties, have been removed from Okanagan orchards during the past winter, B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. announced.

Coupled with the annual clean-up, paint-up campaign, the Junior Chamber of Commerce has begun a salvage drive, hoping that quantities of scrap material with a saleable value may be disposed of for war purposes.

Guller Kennedy, 15, came up with a hole-in-one on the 130-yard ninth hole of the local links on April 3.

Peachland's tax mill rate was set at 26 1/2, the same as last year.

A total of 1,500 individual competitors will take part in the annual Okanagan Musical Festival at Vernon, April 24-28.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Thursday, April 8, 1911

The Federal Government, through E. M. Carruthers and Son, has acquired 30 acres of orchard land at East Kelowna, known as Mrs. C. Spencer's lower lot, where extensive experimental work in connection with brown eye break-down is to be carried out. Mr. Wilcox of Salmon Arm is to be in charge of the work.

No fewer than 11 tenders were received by the City Council for a $53,000 five percent issue of 20-year debentures for extension of the waterworks and sewer systems. The highest offer, which was accepted, was that of Matthews & Co. Ltd. of Toronto at 100.831 and accrued interest. The lowest bid was 98.27.

Members of the Kelowna local of the Independent Growers Association went on record as being in favor of assessing themselves a voluntary levy to supply the necessary funds to continue fighting the central selling campaign and to organize and maintain a bureau of information.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

Thursday, April 14, 1901

Mr. L. A. Hayman returned from Vancouver Saturday, having been successful in passing his examination for a master's certificate in connection with his ferry steamer.

The new Kelowna Lodge 52 of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks was inaugurated April 5 with the assistance of nearly 60 visiting Elks from Vernon. Local candidates for initiation numbered 107. Officers installed were: J. F. Burne, exalted ruler; Dr. J. E. Wright, leading knight; M. A. FORTY YEARS AGO

Thursday, April 13, 1911

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Barrat of Montreal returned east Monday after purchasing a fruit ranch in Glenmore. They were much impressed with conditions here and will make another visit in September.

M. Neilson, an engineer of much experience, drove around the valley Friday in a motor car, obtaining information for a report to the Couteau Power Company on local traffic possibilities should they install an electric line in the valley. It is understood that the necessary capital can be secured to carry out the Couteau Power Co.'s projects, provided some essential points are satisfactorily settled. Kelowna will be one of the first points to receive benefit.

The temperance party is apparently on top in Westbank. An application for a hotel licence there has been refused. This is the third time an application has been turned down.

Total number of pupils on the roll of the public school for March, 1911, was 201 with average percentage of attendance 82.14.

The Kelowna War Canoe Club was formed at a meeting in the hall. Officers chosen: G. S. McKenzie, president; Frank Bird, vice-president; F. M. Buckland, manager; H. L. PENTICTON'S ENGINEERING STAFF UPPED

PENTICTON—The city's engineering staff is to be augmented by the addition of an assistant engineer and, for the summer months, three engineering students.

The assistant engineer, subject to results, become a permanent member of the staff. City Council authorized advertisements for engineering personnel on the recommendation of City Engineer Paul G. W. Walker.

Mr. Walker's advisory council that essential work could not be accomplished without increase in staff. He cited the domestic water main replacement project; urgent need of establishing grades throughout the city; surveying for a drainage system and the preliminary work for sewer section No. 4.

"All these projects require survey crews and apart from field work is the plotting and other office detail which must be prepared and which requires the services of a competent engineer."

Cost to the city including an estimated $400 for office and field equipment will be between $4,000 and $5,000 this year. This provides for employment of an assistant engineer at $250 a month for eight months.

The assistant engineer, who must hold a degree in engineering with concrete work design and, preferably, have municipal engineering experience, will be employed on a temporary basis with the possibility of permanency.

Alderman E. A. Titchmarsh was the only one of council to question the city engineer's recommendation.

"This is a change of policy and it will be the first time the city has employed an engineer, other than the city engineer, on what appears to me to be a permanent basis."

"I am not necessarily against this policy but the more money spent on administration, the less there is for actual work. I'm like the man from Missouri. I would like to be shown if all this is really necessary."

Alderman F. C. Christian declared: "I think it is time we hired qualified help. We need efficiency."

Alderman J. G. Harris strongly supported the recommendation: "According to estimates of our last engineer (R. A. Burton), it will take three months to establish grades alone. I can't visualize our present engineering staff being able to do this along with all the other work crying out to be done."

RUTLAND FLOWER SHOW JUNE 21

RUTLAND—The monthly meeting of St. Aidan's Guild was held at the home of Mrs. T. Daniels last Tuesday with a good attendance of members. The main item on the agenda was the coming flower show, the date being set for June 21. Lists were distributed, and arrangements made to have entry lists sent to East Kelowna, Okanagan Mission, Kelowna, Winfield and Westbank.

Plans were finalized for the combined card party, sponsored by the Over-20's and the Guild for the Rutland Emergency Funds. As a ways and means suggestion, it was decided that each month two members bring an item to auction. An amusing and profitable auction was held of homemade marmalade donated by the hostess, Mrs. Daniels. The next meeting was arranged to be held at the home of Mrs. J. Garner.

Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Wilson, of Bankhead, have purchased Fred Holitzky's house and lot in Rutland.

Irrigated Pastures

Much in the news these days is the use of irrigated pastures for livestock production. During the next three weeks this column will discuss various aspects of the subject. Today T. G. Willis, Superintendent of the Dominion Range Experimental Station, Kamloops, will give a general review of the work being done and the progress reported, both here and abroad.

Few people realize the importance of grass to our national economy and to the well-being of each and every person in Canada. It should be remembered that 75% of all the meat and dairy products we eat come directly from grass. Our population is rapidly increasing and in addition our per capita demand for meat is increasing in spite of the high price of meat. It would appear, then, that if we are to continue to eat meat at our present rate of supply, we must look to more efficient methods of meat production. Range improvement is one of the answers but even if our ranges are restored to their maximum production and original state by the use of new forage and management techniques, coupled with livestock improvement, we will still need more and more meat.

In Central Washington, ranchers and farmers realized this same problem and set to work co-operatively to find out the economics of producing beef on improved pastures. Knowing that in New Zealand, intensive pastures form the main agricultural activity and that a very high percentage of their agricultural production is directly attributable to high pasture production, the Washington agriculturists undertook a very important pasture study. In the past three years they have averaged over 600 pounds of beef per acre each year. This is a startling figure when we know that our arid ranges in the B.C. Interior produce around 10 pounds of beef per acre, and our better irrigated pastures produce from 200 to 250 pounds of meat per acre. In some Washington and Oregon cases, on poorer soils but with climate very similar to the Southern Interior of B.C., reports have been received of production exceeding 1,000 pounds of beef per acre. In the Washington experiments, Ladino clover mixed with several grasses made up the pasture lay. The main fertilizer application was superphosphate and irrigation was used. The total cost of producing meat was less than one pound per acre including labor, interest on the land and cattle, cost of seed, fertilizer and water. The average dressing percentage on pasture-fattened steers ran 58%.

The Dominion Range Experimental Station at Kamloops is undertaking a project to study the many features of intensive pastures. The latest developments in management techniques will be employed. New types of pasture mixes will be used involving mixtures of grasses and legumes. Fertilizer trials will be used to determine the maximum possible yield of meat per acre under British Columbia conditions. These experiments will be done on a large scale utilizing up to 200 head of cattle in order that many practical problems may be handled. It is felt that if the same level of production can be reached in B.C. a completely new industry would be feasible, that of beef pastures on small acreages. Again, many ranchers might find it possible to finish their marketable stock on intensive pasture and thereby alleviate the pressure on their range or allow more breeding stock on the range.

The next two articles in this column will deal with pasture mixes and pasture management.

Signs of the Times
At the Cloverdale Auction recently, a fresh Holstein cow fetched $425. Day-old calves brought $17.50. Two weeks old calves sold for up to $42.50. Weaner pigs ranged in price to $18.50.

Horse meat for sale. It is reported from Edmonton that a business location has been leased for the sale of fresh horse meat. This may be the first licensed shop in Canada selling horse meat for human consumption.

Topical Tips

Suckers—For cows or hifers that suck themselves a good "sucker cure" is to put two rings in the cow's nose, with one ring linked to the other. It usually works. Wood enters—When cattle gnaw at boards, fence posts, trees, etc., it generally indicates a mineral deficiency. A good mixture to use is trace-mineralized salt and steamer feeding bone meal, in equal parts. If the calves are growing satisfactorily don't worry about it as it may be just a habit. A ration of whole oats and leafy green alfalfa will often take them away from their wood-chewing pastime.

Artificial Breeding Proves Itself
The number of dairy cows enrolled in artificial breeding associations approached the three-million mark in 1949, which indicates that one cow in nine in the United States probably will be bred artificially in 1950, the U.S. Department of Agriculture reports. Artificial breeding associations are now operating in 47 states and in Alaska and increasing number of herds are getting the service of outstanding sires.

On January 1 there were 2,827, 530 cows in 372,968 herds enrolled in 1,460 associations, according to Dr. J. F. Kendrick, head of the division of dairy herd improvement investigations for the Bureau of Dairy Industry. Compared with the previous year this is an increase of 50,791 or 18 percent in the number of herds; and 415,370, or 17.2 per cent in the number of cows. This method of mass improvement for dairy cattle has had a spectacular rise in its 11 years of existence. In 1939 there were 7,539 cows enrolled in seven associations. Moreover, research on breeding techniques and the practical application of these techniques have increased the average number of cows served by each bull in the associations. In 1939, 228 cows were enrolled for each ABA bull. In 1950, each of the 2,104 ABA bulls will provide breeding service for an average of 1,344 cows.

B.C. FEDERATION OF TRADE & INDUSTRY

Under the Tower At Ottawa

By O. L. JONES, M.P.

APRIL 9, 1951

The budget speech was received with a sigh of relief by the members, who were present in full force on April 10. The public interest appeared to be greater this year than last, with the result that the galleries were packed to capacity with expectant and anxious taxpayers. The general comment as the work was known was that we are getting off lighter than was expected, and far lighter as individuals than the taxpayer in the United Kingdom.

The main controversial subject seems to be the general sales tax boost from 8% to 10%. This particular tax, commonly called a hidden tax, has been under attack by the members for some years, and in view of the proposed powers that will be given the provinces to add still another 3% hidden tax for their own revenues, I can foresee that the main discussions on the budget will centre around this particular increase.

For several sessions now, the CCF has sponsored a bill whereby union and professional membership dues would be deducted from income tax, on the basis that dues paid by lawyers and doctors are already exempt, urging that the same privilege be granted to workers whose union dues form a substantial portion of their income. All the agitation that has been carried on for these years at last bore fruit, because Mr. Abbott announced in his speech that union and professional membership dues can now be deducted from taxable incomes.

Cost of Living
Mr. MacDonnell, the chief financial critic for the Conservative opposition, charged that the government's new budget did not provide necessary steps to control Canada's rising cost of living. This, he said, constituted neglect and default on the part of the government. He pointed out that in spite of all the glowing figures presented, they failed to alter the fact that there are tens of thousands of people to whom they mean nothing because of the high cost of living. Mr. MacDonnell urged the government to establish a combination of measures, including certain price controls, government economy, higher taxes and other measures fitted into a flexible policy. Only in this way, he claimed, could the government fulfill its obligation to the people of this Dominion.

The cost of living index took a sharp jump, which was announced early this month. It not only caused consternation among all parties in the House but throughout the country as well, as evidenced by the new batch of protests arriving by every mail. So serious has the situation become that the government allowed the official opposition party to discuss the matter on going to supply. Mr. Drew being the first speaker, severely criticized the government for its lack of effective policy to curb the rising cost of living. Mr. Drew repeated suggestions that he made on February 27 that would, from his point of view, effectively control inflation. I quote the statement:

Control Inflation
"There are a number of things that we have urged the government to do:

"First, substantially reduce all non-defence expenditures by the government.

"Second, encourage the production of every line of civilian requirements so that increased production of these things may ease the strain and pressure which cause inflation.

"Third, encourage immigration which will bring to our country vigorous people with the skill and character which will make them useful members of the Canadian community.

"Fourth, remove all restrictions which will discourage the building of new houses urgently needed for the steady increase of population by our own normal growth and by immigration.

"Fifth, take effective steps to make sure we get full value for every dollar spent on defence.

"Sixth, restrain inflation through the control of currency by the Bank of Canada, and by other monetary controls available to the bank under the act which gives it its powers.

"Seventh, introduce emergency controls immediately to the extent that they are required to deal effectively with the cost of living and inflation."

Following Mr. Drew, Mr. Coldwell outlined his party's position regarding price control, drawing to attention that this particular group has been continuously pressing for the maintenance of price controls until the economy of the country reached a stable basis. He also pointed out an angle that is new as far as discussion on this topic is concerned, and I will quote what Mr. Coldwell had to say:

DESTROY ECONOMY

"I believe that if Joseph Stalin has a secret weapon, that weapon is not a fifth column; that secret weapon is inflation. It was inflation that Lenin used following the revolution in 1917 to destroy the basis of the Russian economy of that day, and to bring about the permanent imposition of the bolshevik dictatorship which took power at that time and retained it subsequently. It was inflation that was used in Germany to destroy the German economy. It was inflation that was used in every country in Europe to undermine and to destroy the basis of the economies and the governments of several countries. And while some of those economies should have been removed and should have been changed by other means, I am pointing out that one weapon which has been used since 1917 by the bolsheviks in their world-wide campaign has been the weapon of inflation.

Consequently I say that if Stalin has a secret weapon today, it is inflation. And I would add this for the information of the house, that some of us get resolutions from various labor organizations across the country. I think it is very significant that we have recently received resolutions from local unions that under conditions I am pointing out that one weapon which has been used since 1917 by the bolsheviks in their world-wide campaign has been the weapon of inflation.

"So I say that inflation is one of the secret weapons that can be used to undermine our economy and our institutions and, indeed, to circumvent or even to destroy the effectiveness of our defence effort. Because, after all, every time there is inflation, the dollar the Minister of Finance (Mr. Abbott) takes out of the pocket of a Canadian citizen for expenditures in defence will buy less in the way of preparedness; it will buy fewer tanks, fewer guns, less ammunition and fewer soldiers' uniforms.

Secret Weapon

"Consequently I say that this is a very effective secret weapon. And the tragedy is that the people who should be standing against inflation have in some instances as the leader of the opposition (Mr. Drew) indicated this afternoon, promoted this inflation because of their own selfish interests."

There is no doubt in my mind but that the budget will have some slight effect on the rising cost of living, but I am also satisfied that if we are to avoid inflation the government must take concrete action through price controls, subsidies and other means to prevent a disaster that could equal, as far as the individual is concerned, an all-out war.

FORMER NELSON FORESTER NOW AT PENTICTON

Formerly in charge of management division of the Nelson Forest District in the B.C. Forest Service, G. W. Minns has entered the field of private forestry, with headquarters at Penticton. In his announcement, Mr. Minns noted increasing demands of the lumber industry in Southeastern British Columbia.

Mr. Minns, member of both the Association of British Columbia Foresters and the Association of Professional Engineers of British Columbia, has had a varied career in the field of logging and forestry. He entered the employ of the B.C. Forest Service originally in 1930 as a billing clerk in the Prince Rupert office under District Forester A. E. Parlow.

From then on until 1939 his employment with the Forest Service was intermittent, being alternated by several years with the logging industry on the South coast and on the Queen Charlotte Islands, and by attendance at the University of British Columbia, where in 1939 he took his Bachelor's Degree in Forest Engineering.

Needlecraft News
by Pauline Roy

SPRING is here! Or at least it's just around the corner and with it comes the usual flurry of spring cleaning, shopping for new articles for the family wardrobe and for the home. Yes, spring is the time of year when we feel like making a fresh start and then after a short while we just want to settle back and take life a little easier.

So let's get that early energy to work this year before it wears off. You homemakers don't have to be told where to exert yourselves. It's right in your own home. Living rooms, bedrooms and dining rooms. They're fine as they are—or at least they're satisfied you and your family through the winter months. But spring does strange things, and now you feel that your home needs some improvement.

The man of the house has his share of the work giving the shutters and the front door a fresh coat of paint, taking down the storm windows and putting them away and getting the house in a saleable condition. While Mrs. Homemaker gets to work cleaning, scrubbing and polishing and sewing new curtains, covering cushions, and so on.

When this interior decorating campaign is going on here are a few ideas which may help you. Fabrics play an important part in the appearance of your room. There are some fabrics that are as suitable in one type of room as in another. This is particularly true of rough textured fabrics. But generally your choice of fabrics should be guided by the period of your furniture and the character of your room.

In the modern room you can use one of the many interesting textures and weaves effectively. To mention just a few: rough textured wools, cottons and chenilles; the "homespun" in cottons, chintzes and linens; full woven checks and stripes. In modern decorating, plain colors or two-toned effects are much more popular than figured fabrics.

With 18th Century decor, on the other hand, you can use moirés, velvets, damasks, lighter weight brocades and reps. Remember that the colors you choose for your fabrics should be in harmony with the color scheme of your room.

After you've finished the general redecorating, such as drapes and slipcovers you might want to add a few brightening touches. And what could be prettier than a bright new dolly, crocheted in color. Floral dollys are the newest thing in the world of crochet and one of the most fascinating. Here's a spring flower favorite, the daffodil, worked in two shades of yellow into a crocheted border for a pale green center. Finished, the dolly measures 14" in diameter. A direction leaflet for DAFFODIL DOLLY, Leaflet D-214, is available to you without charge, if you will send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to this paper.

CHINESE WOULD RUN CAFE FOR ORIENTALS ONLY

Hop Lee, operator of a chop suey restaurant at 225 Harvey Avenue, had an alternative for city fathers in his request for rezoning the area where his cafe is located. Last week his request for rezoning was turned down by City Council, but in a second letter he asked permission to carry on such a business which would be open only to Chinese. In other words it would be a private dining room.

If permission was granted, Mr. Lee said, he could raise sufficient money to renovate the building and that he would be willing to make the entrance face either Harvey Avenue or the lane. At present, the main entrance faces the lane between Harvey and Lin Ave.

Alderman Bob Knox once again reiterated a plea on behalf of the Chinese restaurant owner. Last week he said he saw nothing wrong in the entrance facing the lane.

"Is it a good thing to have one nationality segregated in one area?" asked Mayor W. B. Hughes-Games. His Worship said he posed the question for Council's consideration.

"Previous Councils have tried to break up one nationality settling in one particular district," he said. In his opinion it was a good idea.

"I put that idea out as we have got to get away from segregating one nationality," he said.

Alderman Dick Parkinson remarked that the area where most of the Chinese live, "should be one of the most expensive areas in the city."

The matter of Hop Lee's request was referred to Alderman W. T. L. Roadhouse for study.

WILL CALL FOR FLOOD CONTROL
TENDERS SOON

Tenders will be called by the federal and provincial governments for the completion of the Okanagan flood control program as soon as the fisheries department of the State of Washington is satisfied with plans and specifications, according to word received from O. L. Jones, M.P. (Yale).

Last week a federal engineer at New Westminster stated that U.S. officials are now satisfied with the fish ladders which will be constructed to assist in the spawning of salmon.

Mr. Jones recently submitted a list of questions in the House, concerning the progress of the flood control program. He was informed that a total of $1,055,000 had been set aside by federal government during the past three years, and of this amount $20,771 had been spent in 1949-50, and $10,077 in 1950-51.

"Surveys have been made to determine the extent and type of work to be done on the project. Plans and specifications have been drawn up, but so far, it has not been possible to proceed with the work due to objections raised by fisheries department of the State of Washington."

Tenders will be called as soon as the State of Washington signifies that it is satisfied. It is estimated the project will take three years to complete after the contract has been awarded, Mr. Jones was informed.

At Petawawa Forest Experiment Station, Ont., operated by the federal Forestry Branch, basic field studies include improved methods for measurement of forest fire hazard.

DAIRY FARMERS
URGED CONTINUE
ADVERTISING

TORONTO — "Why should we advertise when we haven't surplus to sell?" is the question asked most often by dairy farmers, according to Gilbert McMillan, Huntingdon, Quebec, president of the Dairy Farmers of Canada. First national farm organization to do so, Dairy Farmers of Canada last year embarked on a program of national advertising and sales promotion designed to increase the popularity of dairy foods among Canadian consumers. Financed by dairy farmers on the basis of an advertising set-aside of a cent-a-pound but-terfat on June production, the question "Why advertise?" arises now that the next June advertising set-aside approaches.

"There are strong reasons why we should continue to advertise dairy foods," says Mr. McMillan. "While it is true that some dairy foods are in temporarily short supply, there is still our market to protect. The producer or manufacturer of foods who does not keep reminding the consumer of his product will very soon lose the market to his competitors. There is only one way to maintain preference for our dairy foods, and that is through advertising and sales promotion. Dairy Farmers of Canada have been doing just this through our advertising and sales promotion division, the Dairy Foods Service Bureau."

Mr. McMillan went on to point out that there had been a high degree of approval of the current campaign from farmers and processors and manufacturers of dairy foods. Dairy producer organizations across Canada, in recent meetings had voted to support the second advertising set-aside of a cent-a-pound butterfat this coming June.

While the set-aside was being made by dairy farmers the whole Canadian dairy industry would be tying into the June sales promotion under the slogan, "June is Dairy Month." Theme of the promotion would be dairy foods related to summer meals and would feature fluid milk as a cooling beverage, butter, cheese, cottage cheese, evaporated milk, sweet cream and ice cream.

Reporting on the current campaign which started in December Mr. McMillan said that good advertising coverage had been provided through the Dairy Foods Service Bureau in the heavy consuming areas of the country. To this end the following table has been used: 80 daily newspapers; 265 weeklies, 20 farm press, four national women's magazines, 14 trade papers and 12 radio stations. These outlets from December 1 to June 20 would release: 3,368 daily and weekly newspaper ads; 23 full color or magazine ads; 26 trade papers ads; 42 farm paper ads; 3,322 radio spot messages; 1,260 minutes of special radio commentary prepared by Marie Fraser of the Dairy Foods Service Bureau.

One of the important developments of the Dairy Foods Service Bureau was a tested dairy recipe and photograph service to women's editors of daily papers. This service would be extended to include all press, magazine and radio women's editors in Canada.

An experiment in the merchandising of dairy foods at retail level was being conducted with the thought that through new methods of display sales of dairy foods might be increased.

Mr. McMillan emphasized that Marie Fraser, recently installed Food Editor of the Dairy Foods Service Bureau, was being called upon more and more for advice regarding dairy foods.

One of the significant developments of the whole program had been the manner in which processors and manufacturers of dairy foods were tying into the monthly promotions, thereby materially increasing the sales impact of the campaign.

The Victoria Merry-Go-Round

By JIM NESBITT

This special legislative committee which will tour the province investigating every phase of the B.C. hospital insurance set-up may well look into the part the medical profession should be playing in hospital insurance.

There are several hints, from time to time, in the Legislature during the session, that the doctors are not playing their full part.

Arthur Ash, Liberal-Coalition member for Saanich was the most forthright. He said that a lot of doctors are "definitely sabotaging" hospital insurance.

Arthur Turner, C.C.F. member for Vancouver East said also the doctors are not doing everything they can to co-operate in making hospital insurance a success. He said that in many countries the medical profession has obstructed public health plans.

But, most surprising of all, was Hon. A. D. Turnbull, Minister of Health and Welfare, who said he's convinced the great majority of the medical profession is co-operating, but that some doctors are not.

He agreed with Mr. Turner that the special legislative committee should look into the part the doctors should play in the whole hospital insurance picture.

Dr. J. J. Gillis, Liberal-Coalition, Yale, the only representative in the House of the medical profession said that the doctors are co-operating but that there certainly is a shortage of hospital beds in Vancouver.

It seems the liquor question just will not die. No sooner had the Legislature washed its hands of it, waiting for a plebiscite two years from now, than a powerful churchman, Rt. Rev. Harold Sexton, Anglican Bishop of British Columbia got up and said that meals and restaurants should be allowed to serve beer and light wines with meals.

The Bishop, long an advocate for changes in B.C.'s liquor laws, said "I do not think cocktail bars are the answer to the problem of future drinking. The cause of real temperance would be better served by permitting the citizens to enjoy in moderation a little alcoholic refreshment with their meals in hotel dining rooms and public restaurants, as in England and elsewhere in the British Empire."

The margarine argument in the Legislature developed into another battle royal. The first day of argument it seemed that Mrs. Tilly Rolston would gain so much support for her amendment to the Oleomargarine Act—which it passed, would have removed the color restriction, that the government had to hastily call the caucus into session again to keep the boys in line.

The government takes the stand that there should be color restrictions, that margarine shouldn't look like butter, otherwise the dairy industry will be ruined.

But, seeing that several backbench M.L.A.'s were wanting to please their constituents by allowing colored margarine, the government had to whip them into shape again.

The new Psychiatric Nurses Act is a big step forward in the development of modern nursing in this province. It will give professional standing to mental case nurses, a standing equal to that of the registered nurse. The new act will provide an incentive to encourage young men and women to qualify as psychiatric nurses.

It is interesting to know that 400 nurses have already graduated from the School of Psychiatric Nursing operating by the Provincial Mental Hospital at Essondale. The B.C. Psychiatric Nurses' Association has a membership of 375 graduates in psychiatric nursing. Among the Association's objectives are the promotion, improvement and maintenance of an enlightened and progressive standard of psychiatric nursing and the development of an active public interest in the treatment and care of the mentally ill.

KING SOLOMON'S MINES PLAYING AT PARAMOUNT

Stewart Granger, the British actor who went to Africa, among other reasons, with the hope of bagging a lion, is back in Hollywood. But he's not complaining. He is happy to be back at all. He very nearly didn't make the round trip. Reason: one buffalo.

Granger admits to two primary interests, making motion pictures and night life. He was given the opportunity to combine the two with a five-months location trip through Equatorial Africa for "King Solomon's Mines," M-G-M's Technicolor adventure drama now at the Paramount Theatre, he jumped at the chance. Africa was his spell on him. But a big buffalo he had designs on killing did more than that. He threw the book at Granger!

"We found him, but when we were getting in a position to fire, he suddenly charged, and I got out of his way in the nick of time," he said. With his co-star, Deborah Kerr, and Richard Carlson, Granger crossed and re-crossed Africa a half-dozen times during production of "King Solomon's Mines." But whenever he had free time off, day or night, he joined two of Africa's best-known white hunters, Philip Percival and Eric Rungren, in search of the lion he didn't get. Percival is the hunter Ernest Hemingway used in his African safari; the one who found his way into the pages of "The African Hunter." It was with Rungren, however, that Granger had his close brush with death.

"We had been out a few times before," he recalls, "and between us had bagged seven buffaloes, three rhinos and a lot of different species of antelope. On this particular trip we were after a renege buffalo.

VERNON RURAL AREAS WANT PUBLIC SERVICES

VERNON—The Okanagan Land-Community Association, troubled by the problems of fire protection and sanitation, appealed to the City Council for help.

In letters to the Council, the association asked if the city could extend fire protection to that area. Ald. Frank Telfer, of the fire committee, explained that the association wants to know if the city will hold pieces of equipment for their use. Contacts are also being made in Swan Lake and Coldstream with a view to possible joint action.

The problem will be studied by the fire committee.

With regard to garbage disposal, the association asked if the city could collect garbage for charge. The health committee will investigate.

"Some of the residents are beginning to realize some of the disadvantages of living in unorganized territory," Mayor T. R. B. Adams said. "The taxes are less but there are other considerations."

Any collection service would have to be self-supporting in that Vernon taxpayers would not subsidize the service, he added.

VERNON TRAFFIC LIGHTS BEING INSTALLED

VERNON—Installation of signal lamps at the intersection of 30th Street and 32nd Street by a crew from the B.C. Power Commission started last week according to City Engineer F. G. deWolfe.

Though stringing of the lights at the intersection will be a little more than a two-day job, the city is still waiting delivery of a number of magnetic detectors which will be sunk below the surface of the road close to each of the intersections.

The detectors, which count the vehicles crossing the intersection, determine the time interval between light changes.

They will be laid in the road at a point 80 feet from the intersection. A section of the road will have to be taken up, but the city engineer states that the installation will not prevent traffic from passing.

The three color lamps, green, amber and red, will be strung from a cable at the centre of the intersection approximately 10 feet above road level.

In addition to the work of installation, Mr. deWolfe explained that the equipment will be thoroughly tested before it is brought into regular use, all of which will delay completion of the work.

PEACHLAND W.I. OBSERVES 38TH ANNIVERSARY

PEACHLAND—Three charter members of the Peachland Women's Institute, attended the 38th annual meeting held in the municipal hall last Friday.

Presented with a corsage to commemorate the occasion were Mrs. Albert Smalls, Mrs. W. Sanderson, and Mrs. A. McKenzie. The first president of the organization was Mrs. George Jones, and the meeting was held in the Baptist Church. Total of 24 members attended Friday's meeting.

After the regular business session, there were contests and a reading. A birthday cake, topped by 38 candles was made by Mrs. T. Redstone. Tea was served by the hostesses, Mrs. C. Stump and Mrs. Bruce Johnson.

A mapping program of forest resources in the north is being carried out by the department of resources and development.

THIEVES GET BOOTS—A mail order parcel containing a pair of boots was stolen from Comet Service when a forced entry was made by smashing the window on the door of the office on Leon Avenue.

AUTO HITS LAMP STANDARD—Fairly heavy damage was caused to a car early Thursday, when it backed into a centre lamp standard on Bernard Avenue in front of the Royal Anne. The standard apparently was unharmed.

The Passing Parade

By JACK SCOTT

FOR THE EARS

Got to thinking the other day of what a part sound plays in our lives, mostly unconsciously, and how much that is beautiful must be lost to those without hearing.

What would summer be without the sigh of a lazy surf or the high voices of the kids in the water or the drone of the bee? Surely something less wonderful. What would life be if we were never again to hear the drumming of the rain on the shingles? Or ice tinkling in a tall drink?

I remember once sitting in a camp in Aldershot, homesick as a lost sparrow and hearing a program the BBC had put out for the Canadian troops in England. They had recorded a lot of sounds in Canada and one was the sound of a train whistle. I had to blow my nose several times. I suppose you have to miss a sound to know what it means to you.

Train sounds would probably be high on everybody's list of favorites. I think now if I had to pick the most thrilling sound in my memory it would be the sound of a train I heard as a boy.

My father and I had gone camping in the Rockies. One night we pitched our tent at Albert Canyon in a field not more than 40 paces from the tracks. When the transcontinental came through in the early morning it was like it was coming through the tent. The sound just filled up your insides, shattering, crushing, full of terror and joy.

When it receded down the valley with the banshee whistle screaming for a bend my dad whispered across to me from his sleeping bag, "Let's stay here tomorrow night and hear it again." And we did.

Sound itself is a far more potent instrument of fear than sight. If you're a parent you know the flip-flops of the heart when the baby cries suddenly in the night. Or the foreign footstep creaking on the porch. Or the worst of all—the clanging of a telephone bell at 7 a.m., the terrifying prelude to bad news or—miracles—a wrong number.

It was sound alone that made the V-1 or "buzz bomb" so much more effective than the British people ever admitted. It was sound alone that it was no great shakes, but I watched a lot of stout-hearted Londoners die a little from it and I will never forget that preposterous outboard and then the silence as it cut out and began its dive. Only the explosion brought relief.

By all odds the worst sound I remember is that of a man weeping. I hope I never hear that again. It came from a man in my platoon in basic training camp. He was older than any of us and, more than that, a fellow with no co-ordination. He was, for example, physically and mentally incapable of marching in step (that most heinous crime of warriors) and he was razzed constantly by the cocky young NCO's who were expected to put us soft civilians into shape.

His worst trial was in breaking down and assembling the Bren gun. He would get the parts all hopelessly mixed up and would be fumbling with them, banana-fingered, long after the rest of us had put our guns together. The NCO's barked and hollered at him at every session until one day he put his head down in his arms and started to sob.

There wasn't a sound in that enormous drill hall but his weeping. It was a terrible thing to hear.

I have been thinking of all the sounds I like to hear. You could make a list as long as your arm.

The sizzling sound of trout frying in a pan, for instance, is music for the gods. Or how about the "kok" of a well-hit wood shot or that metallic clunk when a long putt goes down or the bite of skate blades in ice or the sound of canoe paddles dipping in a lake or the crackle of a log fire or the voice of an old friend speaking on the long distance phone or the scream of the gulls.

Trouble with most of us I suppose is that we hear too many sounds—the constant blabber of the radio, the crash of traffic and machines, the sound of too many people talking too much, a great avalanche of decibels beating upon the eardrums.

It leaves us unprepared for the impact of a really beautiful sound—a meadow lark, for example—a sound that comes gift-wrapped in silence.

Specially Written for The Courier by GERRY LOUGHEED (Canadian Press Staff Writer)

A goaltender this season has won the top netminding honor of the National Hockey League, the Vezina trophy.

He's Elwin Ira Rollins, 24-year-old rookie sensation of the Toronto Maple Leafs. Popularly known as Al, the Vanguard, Sask., native was counted on as an understudy this year for Turk Broda, the Leafs' regular goalie.

Before the season started, general manager Conn Smythe said Broda could handle much of the chores. Rollins would be used to spell off the 36-year-old veteran.

Smythe wanted to see if Rollins, who played only a game and two-thirds in the N.H.L. last season, was capable of filling Broda's skates when the old master stepped down, probably next season.

But things didn't pan out just as Smythe planned, although he isn't the least bit disappointed. Rollins turned in a good showing every time he got into the lineup and he ended up playing more games than Broda. Rollins played 70 games, Broda, who handled the other 30 games, fanned on 68 shots.

The total of 138 goals scored against them gave the Maple Leafs the best record in the league and the Vezina Trophy, awarded the club's least scored upon. Because Rollins had played the greater number of games, the trophy went to him.

During the latter stages of the campaign, it was a nip-and-tuck struggle between the Maple Leafs and the Detroit Red Wings for the honor. The last five games of the schedule decided the affair. Rollins allowed only three goals over that stretch while rookie Terry Sawchuk in the Detroit cage was beaten nine times in that period.

There's a world of difference between Broda and Rollins. Rollins, at six feet two inches, towers over Broda by a good five inches. And while Al weighs 185 pounds, he looks long and lanky alongside Turk and his pudgy 180. Broda is the colorful type; he's always a fountain of anecdotes for sports reporters. Rollins is the quiet, workmanlike performer.

Rollins got his first bad break in the opening game of the Stanley Cup semi-final between Leafs and Boston Bruins, won by Bruins 2-0. He suffered a knee injury in collision with a Boston player late in the first period and was replaced by Broda.

Smythe traded three minor league players owned by the Leafs to get Rollins from Cleveland Barons and the American league last season. Rollins was transferred to the Pittsburgh Hornets, the Toronto farm club, and finished the season there. Then he was brought up to the parent club and appeared in two games. In the first he played only two periods and let in four goals. In the second game he scored a shutout.

Al has more than justified Smythe's gamble. But when somebody wins, somebody loses. The Leafs in this case seem to be New York Rangers, who once owned Rollins but dropped him when they discovered he'd rheumatic fever when a boy.

FUTURE ACTIVITIES OF OYAMA W.I. RUMMAGE SALE WILL BE HELD AT RUTLAND

OYAMA—The April meeting of the Oyama K.W.I. was held in the Memorial Hall Thursday of last week. Mrs. W. Chapman was congratulated on the success of the friendship tea. Mrs. G. Pottery reported on the sewing classes held the week previous. Eight members had attended and each had made a cotton dress. The classes were much enjoyed as well as being instructive.

Mrs. J. Young read a letter from the Red Cross Blood Donor Clinic in Vernon thanking the K.W.I. for making the recent clinic such a success. Plans for future activities included arrangements for the annual plant and seed sale to be held May 10; election of a committee of three, Mrs. J. Young, Mrs. W. Chapman, and Mrs. D. Shaw-MacLaren to receive orders for copies of the history; plans to arrange a float of youngsters dressed in national costumes to participate in the May Day parade. Mrs. J. Rounce was elected delegate to the forthcoming rally, to be held in East Kelowna, May 22.

Tea was served by Mrs. D. Rimmer, Mrs. W. Chapman and Mrs. W. Allan. After tea the members were enthralled by a demonstration of sandwich making by Mrs. J. Rounce. The eye-appealing platter of sandwiches seemed to appear like magic while Mrs. Rounce chatted easily, giving ideas for fillings, appearances, and structure.

The May meeting date for the K.W.I. has been changed from the usual second Thursday to May 15, A.S. and Mrs. Garnet T. Sproul brought their four-month-old daughter, Jean Evelyn, to St. Mary's Anglican Church to be baptized. Mr. and Mrs. E. Bollingbroke were the godparents. The baby wore a 160-year-old robe loaned by Mrs. E. Gingell. Rev. A. R. Lett officiated.

The Oyama Red Cross Drive was very successful this year. A total of $300.48 was collected. Mrs. R. Allison was in charge. As her committee she had Mrs. A. S. Towgood, Mrs. D. Eyles, Mrs. A. R. Lett, Mrs. T. D. Shaw-MacLaren, Mrs. F. Whipple, Mrs. H. Duggan, Mrs. J. Elliott and Mrs. V. E. Ellison.

FIERY CROSS FOR BLOOD KAMLOOPS—A huge fiery cross atop Mount Paul will be one of the "publicity stunts" of the Junior Chamber of Commerce here as the annual Jaycee-sponsored Red Cross Blood Donor Clinic is held from May 14-16.

RUTLAND—The general monthly meeting of the Rutland Women's Institute was held in the hall Thursday evening. President Mrs. F. Oslund was in the chair. Considerable amount of business was conducted. Main items included a rummage sale to be held April 26, with a view of increasing funds; a plant sale, handicraft display and sale of articles from flour sacks is planned for early in May, to be sponsored by the agriculture convener, Mrs. A. W. Gray and handicraft convener Mrs. G. Muford. Mrs. A. Hawkey was elected as delegate to the South Okanagan and District Conference to be held in East Kelowna. Mrs. Oslund reported briefly on the recent meeting sponsored by the Hall Society.
